UNION MEN WILL VOTE ON CAR STRIKE

MEETING CALLED TO DETERMINE MATTER BY BALLOT.

NOTICE

DIVISION NO. 192, A. A.
OF S. & E. R. E. OF A.
MIDNIGHT MEETING
WEDNESDAY, MARCH
28TH, 1906.

AS YOUR COMMITTEE HAVE EXHAUSTED EVERY MEANS IN THEIR POWER TO OBTAIN A SETTLEMENT WITH "THE COMPANY" ON THE AGREEMENT, THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF DIVISION 192 HEREBY CALL A MIDNIGHT MEETING AT GIER'S HALL FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28TH, 1906, FOR THE PURPOSE OF TAKING A "STRIKE VOTE."

MEETING WILL BE CALLED TO ORDER PROMPTLY AT 2 A. M. A FINE OF $10.00 WILL BE IMPOSED FOR NON-ATTENDANCE.

POSITIVELY NO ADMITTANCE WITHOUT MONTHLY CARD.

BY ORDER OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The Oakland Traction Consolidated and the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railroad Company have refused absolutely to grant the demands of the Carmen's Union No. 192 with respect to an increase of wages, a flat wage rate for all employees and, indeed, for reforms or concessions of any kind. This is in effect a defiance of the union and it is now up to the latter organization to determine whether it will yield to the defiance, accept the old conditions, acknowledge its defeat or go on a strike.

PRESENT SCHEDULE.

The wages now paid on the two systems are:

"I thought he was crying 'wolf' and so I did not go to his aid."

—Statement of Henry Newton of the Oil Refinery, who saw little Edwin Anderson drown before his eyes.

EDWIN ANDERSON
Drowned Boy.

MRS. GEORGE ANDERSON
His Mother.

Under the belief that the lad was simply struggling playfully in the water, Henry Newton, an employee of the oil refinery of East Oakland, watched 11-year-old Edwin Anderson of Fruitvale, drown yesterday afternoon in the ebb tide water of the estuary.

Aid could have been given the boy had Newton realized that the cry for help was given in sincerity, but, according to his statement today, he was positive the youth was simply crying "wolf."

MOTHER STRICKEN.

The mother of the drowned boy, already ill, is placed in a precarious condition.

GRAND JURY QUESTIONS THEM ON TAGS

The shortage reported by the experts employed by the Board of Supervisors in the funds of the late A. W. Feidler is being investigated by the Grand Jury this morning, and a thorough overhauling of the entire matter is being gone through with.

Among the witnesses who were questioned in regard to the matter were Deputy Treasurer Charles J. Hart, Attorney C. E. Snook, Supervisors.

TO ARREST INSURANCE COMPANY MEN!

OFFICIALS MUST ANSWER TO CRIMINAL
CHARGE.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Warrants for the arrest of three prominent life insurance officials were obtained today by District Attorney Jerome from Magistrate Moss, of the Tombs court.

It was said at the time the warrants were issued that the men named, in them were in the Criminal Courts building and that their attorneys at the same time were in the Supreme Court arranging for writs of habeas corpus in connection with the proceedings.

POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS. After he had obtained the warrants District Attorney Jerome declined to state for whom they had been issued. His accusation is believed to be an outgrowth of the sharp discussion between Judge O'Sullivan of the Court of General Sessions and himself last week, whether officers of the insurance companies should be prosecuted for making contributions to political parties.

AS TO LARCENY.

A few weeks ago Mr. Jerome presented to the grand jury certain evidence which was brought out in the legislative investigation. Following this the grand jury presented to Judge O'Sullivan a long series of hypothetical questions as to whether under certain circumstances the insurance officials had committed larceny in making the political contributions.

JUDGE'S STAND.

Several days later Mr. Jerome informed the jury that the officers were not guilty of larceny unless intent to defraud was shown by the insurance men and that if the jury found out that it was shown the crime of larceny would have been committed.

MAKES AFFIDAVIT.

Afterward Mr. Kingsley and Edmund Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Company, went to Mr. Jerome's office at his request to make an affidavit, it was reported, as to the payment of political contributions by the officers of that company.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Postmaster General Cortelyou was informed of the report from New York that it was believed a warrant had been issued for his arrest, while attending the meeting of the Cabinet. At the conclusion of the meeting he declined to discuss the question, but said if it was true that warrant had been issued he will go to New York at once. He concluded by saying: "Just wait for the facts."

WANTS WARRANTS.

District Attorney Jerome today applied to Magistrate Moss for warrants against several persons in connection with the recent life insurance investigation. The warrants were not issued, the magistrate taking the ground that it would be necessary for the District Attorney to present evidence that a

DISTRICT ATTORNEY NORTON OF SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY, IN A DISCUSSION WITH THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT RELATIVE TO "THE FEMALE BLUE BEARD," SAID:

AS FOR THE WOMAN HERSELF, SHE IS BEYOND ME. IN ALL MY EXPERIENCE I HAVE NEVER SEEN HER EQUAL. SHE IS A STUDY FROM A CRIMINAL STANDPOINT. I NEVER SAW AN ACCUSED PERSON MORE COOL OR UNCONCERNED. SHE SEEMS TO TAKE EVERYTHING AS A MATTER OF COURSE, AND IS AS MUCH INTERESTED IN WHAT GOES ON ABOUT HER AS THOUGH SHE WERE ON A PLEASURE TRIP OR SIGHTSEEING. AT FIRST GLANCE SHE IS RATHER GOOD LOOKING, BUT A STUDY OF THE FACE SOON DEVELOPS HARDNESS AND CRUELTY THERE. SHE SEEMS TO GIVE NO THOUGHT TO THE TERRIBLE CRIME WITH WHICH SHE IS CHARGED. SHE TALKS FREELY AND ANSWERS ALL QUESTIONS. OF COURSE, SHE STICKS TO THE ACCOMPLICE STORY, BUT THAT MAY BE SET ASIDE ENTIRELY. THERE WAS NO ACCOMPLICE. TOUCHING THE CRIME, I WILL NOT GIVE OUT HER STATEMENT, BUT I WILL SAY THAT SHE ADMITTED HAVING MARRIED A MAN NAMED WILLIAM WILLIAMS AND GOING TO ARIZONA, EITHER TO GLOBE OR BISBEE. WHILE THERE HE DIED OF SOME DISEASE PECULIAR TO MINERS.

BOY BURGLAR CONFESSES

HEAR GIRL CRY FOR HELP

NEW FACTS ARE BROUGHT OUT IN M'NULTY
TRIAL.

It was not only one scream, but several that startled Miss Janet Forbes and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edith Forbes, in their home at Stuart street and Telegraph avenue on the night Miss Dorothy Olsen charges that she was assaulted by Lester C. McNulty. Mrs. Forbes says that she was in bed, and that her sister-in-law was reading aloud when they heard what they thought were screams.

They did not know just what they had heard and waiting for a second the reading was recommenced, but had only proceeded for a few lines when they heard another scream. Both women then rushed to the window and heard still another.

Mrs. Edith Forbes was a new witness.

"I do not know why I did it."

This is the only explanation William Graff, the 17-year-old boy, has to make relative to his attempt to burglarize the residence of Mrs. J. Tully, 6603 Tremont street, Sunday evening. In his confession Graff exonerates Antone Zrowe and Thomas Richards, who were arrested by the police on suspicion of having taken part in the robbery. It was due to the heroism of Mrs. Tully that Graff and his companions were arrested. She followed the young burglar in her night robes until she secured a sufficient number of facts to lead to the identity of the burglar who demanded her money or her life.

HIS COFFESION.

In confessing Graff says: "My father is an upholsterer. I live with him in Lorin, and my mother has been dead a long time. I have been trained well, and I do not know why I tried to rob Mrs. Tully. I was simply seized with an irresistible impulse and had to obey it."

HAD NO WEAPON.

When I entered the Tully home I did not have a pistol or any other weapon. I tried to 'buff' Mrs. Tully but she screamed. I then ran."

"Neither Zrowe nor Richards were with me. We first talked of the robbery about ten days ago. I think it was on St. Patrick's Day."

Zrowe corroborated the statement of Graff, as did young Richards. The latter also stated they refused to have anything to do with the job, although admitting they talked of it.

SLAYS CHILD AND THEN SELF

MAN PREVENTS WEDDING OF GIRL BY MURDER.

EVERETT, Wash., March 27.—Less than three hours before the time set for her wedding Pansy E. Townsend was shot and mortally wounded by her father, Joseph P. Townsend, in their home in this city yesterday.

Townsend then ended his own life with a bullet.

Miss Townsend was to have been married to Francis E. Perry at 6 o'clock last night.

As far as is known Townsend had nothing against Perry and the supposition is that Townsend's mind was unbalanced by reason of his love for his daughter and his brooding over the prospect of a separation from her.

DENIAL OF HER CRIME IS STILL MADE

PRISONER TAKES PLEASURE IN FACING THE CHARGE.

STOCKTON, March 27.—While the public is discussing the cold-bloodedness of the murder of Albert N. McVicar in the California lodging house in this city last Saturday morning, the consummate nerve of the one who drugged him and beat out his life, the coolness and hardihood it must have taken to do the deed, place the man in a trunk purchased for the purpose and have it taken to a train for shipment as baggage, Mrs. Le Doux, the woman who is in jail here charged with his murder, is apparently unconcerned and indifferent as to consequences.

EATS WITH RELISH.

Mrs. Le Doux passed a quiet night in the jail, and this morning ate her breakfast with apparent relish. Though on the way to Stockton from Antioch she inquired whether she could have an attorney, she has made no attempt to secure one since her arrival.

It is known that the morning of her arrest she telephoned to Jackson for an attorney, but was unable to reach the man she sought.

CALL HER MURDERESS.

It is pretty generally conceded now that she accomplished the death of McVicar unaided and alone, and District Attorney Norton says he is fully convinced of it from all the known circumstances.

Mr. Norton denies that the woman has made a confession of the crime; on the contrary, she has persistently declared that she was not concerned in the man's death, but has admitted a knowledge of it and says she assisted in putting his remains in the trunk which she purchased.

NO SUCH MAN.

As for the Joe Miller whom she says was the chief actor in the terrible tragedy, there is no such man.

She spent last Saturday night with Joe Heady in a San Francisco lodging house. Healy establishes a complete alibi covering the time of the murder, says Mr. Norton.

It is the belief of Mr. Norton that the woman drugged the man and then beat him to death. He declines, however, except by inference, to give out anything of the woman's statement, which was made to him at length.

TO CHARGE MURDER.

It was decided this morning to call the Grand Jury together, and the woman will unquestionably be indicted for murder. This means that there will be no preliminary examination.

The date of the inquest upon McVicar, whose body has been viewed by hundreds of people at the morgue, has not been set, as Coroner Southworth is in San Francisco getting the stomach tissues analyzed.

POISON THEORY.

The theory of the District Attorney that the man was first drugged by her and then beaten, is borne out by the finding in the woman's effects last night of a small bottle of laudanum, about one-third full.

The report that the woman had made a statement to the effect that the mythical Miller had given McVicar carbolic acid, is probably a mistake. At least, it is certain that no carbolic acid was administered. The autopsy surgeons will prove that. It is also pointed out that it would be ridiculous for anyone to administer that poison to another, the taste and the burning sensation betraying it at once.

CONCEALS WOMAN.

District Attorney Norton has refused to permit any newspaper men to talk with the woman in the jail. In discussing his stand in this regard he said this morning to the Associated Press representative:

"I feel it my duty to protect the woman in every way possible. There is yet to be a trial, and interviews would serve to complicate matters, in addition to which there is the liability that she might be made to say things unwittingly that would be used against her."

SAYS SHE'S GUILTY.

"While I feel sure that she committed the crime and that she did it without assistance, I feel it my duty, for her sake, not to permit her to be talked to."

"If I allow one to see her I will have to allow all, and the office is disposed to treat all the newspapermen alike."

"She has not as yet secured an attorney. If she does and he is willing to have her talk, I have nothing whatever to say."

CRIMINAL STUDY.

"As for the woman herself, she is beyond me. In all my experience I have never seen her equal. She is a study from a criminal standpoint. I never saw an accused person more cool or unconcerned. She seems to take everything as a matter of course, and is as much interested in what goes on about her as thought she were on a pleasure trip or sight-seeing."

"At first glance she is rather good looking, but a study of the face soon develops hardness and cruelty there. She seems to give no thought to the terrible crime with which she is charged. She talks freely and answers all questions.

ACCOMPLICE STORY.

"Of course, she sticks to the accomplice story, but that may be set aside entirely. There was no accomplice."

"Touching the crime I will not give out her statement, but I will say that she admitted having married a man named William Williams and going to Arizona, either to Globe or Bisbee. While there he died of some disease peculiar to miners, so she says, miners' consumption, I think."

LIFE INSURED.

"She says his life was insured for $10,000 and she got the money. She then met McVicar and married him, and he spent the money or invested it for her in various ways. At least, he got rid of it."

"She lived with McVicar only a few months, when she got a divorce and married Le Doux, who is her present husband. She denies that she ever married a man named Barrett or Barry."

MOTIVE FOR CRIME.

Questioned as to the motive for the crime, Mr. Norton said he only had an opinion; it might have been revenge for his having spent her money, or it might have been robbery—a desire to get possession of the furniture which had been purchased and partly paid for, or it might have been jealousy; possibly all three.

REAL IDENTITY.

As for the identity of the deceased, as suggested by the dispatch from the Cripple Creek Chief of Police, Mr. Norton says there is no question that the dead man was Albert N. McVicar of Jamestown—at least the man so known there for the past year and a half. If he went under any other name previously it is not known here. McVicar's reputation at Jamestown was the best.

Captain Neville of the Rawhide mine, where he was employed as a timberman, says he was one of the best workmen he ever saw, and could turn his hand at anything. He was handy with tools and thoroughly conversant with all mine and millwork. He was a quiet, industrious fellow, who took care of his money, and he was not a drinking man."

NOT SLAIN FOR MONEY.

It is not believed that there was any money consideration back of the murder. When McVicar and Mrs. Le Doux bought the furniture, and he paid $100 down, he said he had little money left, but expected $200 by Wells-Fargo. Inquiry shows he did not receive this. The woman must have known his financial condition.

NOT CONCERNED.

Sheriff Sibley has been in Jackson during the past few days investigating the woman's connections there. When Mrs. Head, the woman's mother, was informed that her daughter was suspected of murder, she received the information without the slightest show of emotion, and Le Doux, the husband, seemed undisturbed.

He said he knew nothing whatever about it and Sheriff Sibley is satisfied that he had nothing to do with it. He said he had expected her home any day during the past week.

She had been accustomed to go and come when she pleased, and he never worried about her. He knew nothing of the furniture, which at last accounts was on the road somewhere.

Le Doux had not received it, nor did he know it was on the way; had never heard of it in fact.

SHOOTING AFFAIR.

STOCKTON, March 27.—A telegram was received this morning by Chief of Police Baker of this city from the Chief of Police of Cripple Creek, Colo., asking for full particulars of the death of McVicar and to be sure that the dead man was McVicar.

It is believed by the Stockton chief that this information is wanted in connection with the shooting some years ago of a Colorado newspaperman by a Wells-Fargo man named Russell. A card was found in McVicar's effects which showed that he had been a Wells-Fargo agent.

IS HIS BROTHER.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 27.—John McVicar, proprietor of the Cripple Creek Laundry, believes the man murdered at Stockton was his brother Albert, and he has wired the officials of Stockton for full particulars.

Albert McVicar, during 1898-1899, was agent for the Wells-Fargo Express Company in this city. He left here about six years ago and went first to New Mexico and Arizona and then to California. His home was formerly in Wichita, Kan.

CAPTURE OF MURDERESS DUE TO HER OWN FAULT

STOCKTON, March 27.—Sheriff Sibley is still in Amador threshing out any possible suspicion that might cling to Le Doux, the husband of the woman, but he is said to have had no difficulty in proving that he had not been away from his place near Jackson for two or three weeks.

While in San Francisco the woman went under the name of Ruth Miller, and is said to have spent money with both hands. The life insurance of Williams was soon disbursed in her wild life into which she had plunged at times, but it seems that she always had a husband to whom she could return. That McVicar had given up his position and was removing with her to Amador county, the residence of husband Le Doux, is an indication that he did not know of the existence of Le Doux as her spouse.

From the woman's several statements the police cannot draw away from the idea that the woman may have had an accomplice, and that while he may not have been an actual participant in the commission of the crime, he had knowledge that it was to be committed. For that reason the woman was hurried to a cell in the woman's ward, and will be held incommunicado; no one except her guard and the detectives will be allowed to communicate with her.

The stomach and vital organs of the dead man were sent to San Francisco today for chemical analysis, and it is probable that the inquest will not be held until after its result is known. The remains are still lying at the mortuary of the Stockton Undertaking Company, where there is a procession passing constantly around the slabs which are being viewed. Many in the crowd are women.

DUE TO BREAKDOWN.

The capture of the murderess at Antioch was probably due to her own general breakdown in the face of the sudden and unexpected publicity given to the crime. Le Doux left San Francisco on Sunday on the Santa Fe, having purchased a ticket for Stockton. Just what her motive was in purchasing a ticket back to the scene of her crime after the widespread publicity that had been given the matter is hard to fathom. It is probable that she was anxious to leave San Francisco at once, and in her general excitement bought the ticket for Stockton on impulse, yet had yet made up her mind just where she would go.

This view is strengthened by the story that Conductor Flannagan told the San Francisco police. It was due to the story of Flannagan that the woman had been in San Francisco police that the woman had, in all probability, got off at Antioch. She had asked the conductor whether there were any large cities between San Francisco and Stockton, and he had told her that there were. She asked him many questions as to the size of Antioch, and the departure and arrival of trains from there.

WANTED TO AVOID STOCKTON.

Conductor Flannagan took particular note of the woman, as she seemed to be particularly anxious to locate her husband, and he was told that she had been in San Francisco. He was told that she had been in San Francisco, and he was told that she had been in San Francisco. He was told that she had been in San Francisco, and he was told that she had been in San Francisco.

Flannagan thought the whole thing rather strange, but as he had asked the woman to see whether or not she got off at Antioch, he failed to see whether she got on again, but after the train was under way took occasion to go through the baggage car and then discovered that she had left.

he believed the woman who had ridden with him the previous night was the murderess, and Deputy Sheriff Case, who was then in San Francisco, put the authorities at Antioch on their guard. On the morning of the 26th, on Sunday night she had hurriedly made her way to the Arlington Hotel and engaged a room. She was not seen on the streets during the evening, so far as could be learned, and had evidently kept quietly to her room. Early Monday morning the detective who had been sent from San Francisco to the effect that the woman had probably stopped off there, and about 8 o'clock Sheriff Veale telephoned a description of her to Constable E. D. Whelan of Antioch. At the time the description was received, Whelan was out of the office, and his brother Tom Whelan, receiving the message and the description, immediately suspected that the woman who had ridden the previous night was the woman wanted, and went down to the Arlington Hotel to confirm his suspicions. As Sheriff Veale was not in the office, Whelan, shortly afterward with his brother, Constable Whelan, and the woman was placed in custody.

VEALE IS NOTIFIED.

Antioch is in Contra Costa county. Sheriff Veale was telephoned for, and he in turn instructed Deputy Sheriff P. H. Cunningham, who was at Antioch, to send word to the woman to come to the city, and to take her to the jail. Cunningham arrived at Antioch before 12 o'clock, and the woman was taken to the jail. Meantime Deputy Sheriff Case of San Joaquin county and District Attorney Norton had been informed of the capture of the woman at Antioch at 1 o'clock.

The woman admitted her identity and gave a story of the crime that attempted to make her appear as a victim. She said that she had been in San Francisco for some time, and that she had been in San Francisco for some time, and that she had been in San Francisco for some time.

For a woman occupying the position of an accused murderess, Mrs. Le Doux seemed actually to enjoy the publicity she was creating. Nothing could better show the absolute heartlessness of the woman, and yet the touch of the feminine that was in her, when she was apparently had been a life-long stranger to the milk of human kindness, than her attitude at the depot at Antioch when a crowd of people gathered to see her. She seemed to be in a state of excitement, and she seemed to be in a state of excitement.

POSSE FOR PHOTOGRAPH.

As soon as she realized that the photographer jumping from the train and rushing toward her meant her no bodily harm, she seemed to lose all fear. She then, realizing that the heavy veil that hung from her hat might mar the success of the picture, she lifted her veil, and in a flash she was in the hands of the posse. The engine clanged the warning, the deputy sheriff came forward to escort her to the waiting train.

A dense mob had gathered at the Stockton depot of the Southern Pacific to watch the woman come in from Antioch. The train bearing her and her two custodians, Deputy Sheriff Case and District Attorney Norton, arrived at 7:15 o'clock. In order to save the crowd the woman was taken off from one of the rear coaches, but some one in the crowd recognized Norton, and the crowd broke into a mob, and in a second or two the mob of several hundred people was pressing behind the woman and her guards.

She appeared to be amused more than anything else. Occasionally she would glance over her shoulder at the surging crowd, but she would not look at them. She was taken around the depot once to lead astray the mob, and then hurried back to where a closed hotel bus was waiting with the woman's trunk. She was hustled into the bus, and the mob surged around once more.

The trip to the County Prison occupied but a few minutes, and when the bus arrived the crowd that had assembled was denser than at the depot. Driving to the side of the building the woman was taken out, and the woman quickly taken from it. She was not handcuffed in any way.

With Norton on one side, and Case on the other a passage was forced through the jam. On the steps of the prison a gang of women had gathered. Here the woman's escort found her hand being broken through than they did with the mob of men on the streets. Women crowded and fought with each other for a glimpse of the murderess.

HEALY FOUND BY GIBSON.

Healy resides with his mother at 1122 Florida street. He was located at 2 o'clock yesterday morning by Detective Ed Gibson of San Francisco and Under Sheriff Case of Stockton. Healy was found in bed at his home, and he admitted that he had been with the Le Doux woman last Saturday evening and last Sunday at the Royal House, 125 Ellis street. He said he received a telegram from the woman last Saturday night, dated at Stockton, which read: "I leave on the 2:55 train. Meet me at the Royal House." He was allowed to remain at his home, but yesterday afternoon Detective Case and Gibson sent him to the jail, and he had been induced to tell all he knew about the woman he was allowed to go his way. Healy told the following story:

"To begin with, I was engaged to marry the woman, and I knew as Williams, by this woman, whom I knew as Williams, but this engagement was broken off last April, a few days before the date set for the ceremony. I found out that she was not a fit woman for me to marry, and I gave her up. I did not see her again until one week ago last Wednesday. The previous day she called me up over the telephone and said that she was in town with McVicar; that McVicar was sick, and that she wanted to see me. I made an appointment to meet her at Stockton and Geary streets. The reason I made this appointment was because she had a diamond ring I gave her as an engagement ring and I wanted to get it back. I promised my mother that I would never have anything to do with her again, and to prove that I had given the woman up, I wanted that ring to show my mother.

"The woman did not meet me as she promised, but the following day she called me up over the telephone and told me that McVicar had died at Stockton of miners' consumption, and that she was going to ship the body to his brother in Cripple Creek, Colo. She wanted to see me, but I refused to see her. I did not hear from her again until last Saturday, when I received the telegram from Stockton. I went to the Royal House to meet her that night, but she was not there, so I left word that I had called and went over to the clear store of Charles Fear, 1010 Broadway street.

WOMAN MEETS HEALY.

"I was playing a slot machine there when the woman walked into the store and asked if I was there. I was mad all through when I saw her. I demanded my ring. She said she did not have it, but she had it in her pocket in her telescope at the hotel, but that she would give it to me. I gave her a good cursing, and said I did not ever want to have anything to do with her again. I told her to get out of the store, and she went out. She promised to give me the ring if I would go with her. She did not keep her promise, so I left. I was not in her room, but talked with her in the parlor.

"Sunday morning I met her at the Royal House about 10:30 o'clock. I was reading a morning newspaper when she walked into the woman's parlor, and I pointed to the story about the finding of the body in the Southern Pacific depot. I said: 'Look here, what has happened in Stockton, the town you just left.'

"She never moved a muscle when she saw the picture in the story, and did not seem a bit agitated. She is the coolest woman I ever knew. I again demanded my ring, but she told me and asked me to ride out to the Presidio with her. I consented, and she put on her hat and got into the car. We went out to the Presidio, and she told me that she would return my ring. I said I would go if she would give me the ring first. After some talk she gave me the ring, then she told me that she would return my ring. I said I would go if she would give me the ring first. After some talk she gave me the ring, then she told me that she would return my ring. I said I would go if she would give me the ring first.

"I noticed that the woman did not check her telescope to Stockton and wondered about it at the time. It was heavy and I could not understand why she would keep it with her. I do now, of course, as she had no intention of going to Stockton.

KNOWS NOTHING OF MURDER.

"All I want to say in my own behalf is that I do not know anything about this murder. I believe the woman planned the murder to take place in San Francisco, but that for some reason her plans miscarried. She told me over the telephone that the doctor said McVicar could not live. When she was with me Saturday night and Sunday she did not tell me that McVicar had been murdered. She said he had died and that McVicar's brother had come from Denver, Colo., and taken the body home. She said also that when the brother arrived for the body she learned that McVicar had substituted the name of his mother for herself as the beneficiary, but that his brother informed her that he would see that she got $10,000 in the high of developments she was evidently not telling the truth."

At this juncture Healy was questioned about insurance policies and he then said that the Le Doux woman once informed him that her former husband, Williams, carried an insurance policy in her favor, but that he (Healy) did not know the amount of the policy. He then told of the experience with the woman in connection with insurance policies. He said further that he considered himself lucky in not marrying the woman, as possibly he might have been her victim long before this.

HEALY TELLS OF HER RELATIVES.

Healy says that the Le Doux woman has two sisters living in San Francisco. One is Mrs. Mary Rose Palmer, who resides at 408 or 410 Hyde street, and Mrs. L. Fish, who resides at Sixth avenue and Richmond street. Another sister, he says, lives in Los Angeles—Mrs. Daisy Grando, wife of a fruit dealer. Another sister is married to a brother of Le Doux, he also says, and there is still another sister, Helen, who is unmarried and lives with her mother in Oregon. Two brothers, Sam and Fred Cole, live either in Sutter Creek or Jackson, Healy says.

him, but I do not know his name."

The only trace of little Edwin Anderson is the finding of his cap. This was found floating near the scene of the disaster. Nothing else has been given up by the waters of the bay.

Shackles as if he were on the point of a nervous breakdown, his eyes reddened and bloodshot with spasmodic weeping, George Anderson, the father of the dead boy, said to the TRIBUNE reporter today at his home:

CRIES FOR BODY.

"Have they found my little one's body? He was only first born. I heard that he was found, but I do not know where. I do not want to accuse any one. Oh, it is terrible!"

Then from the bedroom came the heartrending cries of the mother calling for the body of her boy. The Anderson home is a scene of sorrow. Three little ones—Charles, aged seven; Thelma, age 11, and Clayton, aged four—smile among themselves, not realizing the weight of woe which has fallen upon the mother and father in the loss of their little boy Edwin.

DRAWING THE BAY.

The waters of the bay are being dragged to the depths in the hopes that the body of Edwin Anderson will be found. A party of friends of the family is busy at the Fruitvale bridge gazing into the turbid waters. A mile away the dead face of the little fellow is visible on the surface of the waters. The deadly undercurrent has taken his body far away and the opinion is general that it will never be recovered.

crime had been committed. Mr. Jerome thereupon agreed to present depositions upon the question to the magistrate later, and it was reported late this afternoon that this would be done tomorrow.

PROMINENT MEN.

When the news became public it was recalled that the names of Postmaster General Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican National Committee; Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the organization, and George Perkins, former president of the New York Life and had been mentioned by Mr. Jerome before Judge O'Sullivan in connection with the warrants.

Magistrate Moss, however, said that no names whatever were mentioned during his conversation with Mr. Jerome.

As a result of Mr. Jerome's conversation with the magistrate, subpoenas in blank were issued and it was announced that John Doe proceedings would be brought, in an effort to procure evidence upon which the warrants might be issued.

BOY DROWNED IN ESTUARY.

dition because of her son's death. The body has not yet been recovered, and in all probability it has been carried out to sea by the tide.

Edwin Anderson yesterday afternoon, was seeking to gain bait that he might fish in the estuary. He was with a number of companions on the Fruitvale bridge, at the foot of Fruitvale avenue. Reaching for the crustaceans and angles on the piles, Edwin lost his balance. He fell into the turbulent waters, and in a very short time he was drawn beneath the flood—once his discolored face appeared. He called for help. Little Johnny Perry heard him. Perry says:

AN ACCIDENT.

"Eddie was trying to reach out for some bait which was on the side of the piles. Before we knew it he fell into the water and disappeared. He called for help, but we could not do a thing. His face showed above the surface and then it went down very quickly. He seemed to be pulled down before our eyes."

John Lerag, a friend of Edwin's, went to the scene of the fatality shortly after it occurred. He says:

CRY OF "WOLF."

There was a man who works at the oil refinery, who was in a boat nearby. He could have saved Edwin if he had gone to his aid. Edwin cried 'Help!' but the fellow did not do a thing. He sat in his boat and laughed. Then he said: 'Oh, that's a cry of wolf!' But we saw Eddie struggling in the water and realized that he was in a bad way. One of the boys jumped in to save him, but I do not know his name."

The only trace of little Edwin Anderson is the finding of his cap. This was found floating near the scene of the disaster. Nothing else has been given up by the waters of the bay.

Shackles as if he were on the point of a nervous breakdown, his eyes reddened and bloodshot with spasmodic weeping, George Anderson, the father of the dead boy, said to the TRIBUNE reporter today at his home:

CRIES FOR BODY.

Then from the bedroom came the heartrending cries of the mother calling for the body of her boy. The Anderson home is a scene of sorrow. Three little ones—Charles, aged seven; Thelma, age 11, and Clayton, aged four—smile among themselves, not realizing the weight of woe which has fallen upon the mother and father in the loss of their little boy Edwin.

SUICIDE TO ESCAPE TORTURE

Laborer Tells of Horrors at Suisun
Cement Works.

Writes the Story of His Unavailing Search for Decent Employment.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—After a bitter struggle to obtain work that would enable him to live like a human being, Leopold Sanger, a laborer, gave it up yesterday and ended his life in his room at 616 Turk street. To make death doubly certain he swallowed the contents of a bottle of wood alcohol, then turned on the gas.

A few hours before his death, Sanger penned a scorching indictment of the labor conditions existing at the Pacific Portland Cement Works, near Suisun. The surroundings there he denounced as almost bestial. He was particularly bitter against the employment firm of Murray & Ready for sending him to the Suisun Cement Works, which he describes as a hell hole in the following letter, addressed to his landlady:

Miss M. Morton, 616 Turk street—Dear Madam: Kindly excuse me for causing you all this trouble. I really hate to do it, as you have been kind and considerate, but I cannot possibly avoid it. When I went out into the country two days ago I did so with the intention of going to work. The day before I went to Murray & Ready, the employment agents, and they offered me a job at $60 a month.

"Our fee is $1," said the man in the office. When I told him I had no money with me he said "Well, there is no use talking to you unless you pay the $1."

So I went to Oakland and borrowed $10 from my relations and came back and paid the fee, whereupon I received a letter telling me to go at 7 o'clock the next morning to work in the cement factory (the place is a short distance beyond Port Costa). I went there and got work at $25 a day, and was to start at 6:30 the same evening. I went to look for the company's lodging house and the steward took me to a big tent in which were bunks made from rough lumber, with a handful of straw thrown in taking the place of a mattress. No pillows or sheets at all. These some poor working fellows were lying with their dirty and sweaty clothes on (for they cannot undress on account of the open straw they have to lie on) trying to sleep.

They complained to me bitterly about their being treated worse than cattle. The food is scarcely fit to eat, although they are charged $5.25 a week for it. They told me that a week or two is as long as any man ever works there as a rule, as the hard work and inability to sleep on the boards wears them out. If I had not seen it with my own eyes I would not believe that such conditions exist in this so-called civilized country.

The eight of these quarters was too sickening for me to remain there, so the men told me who turned back as I did. Before living in such misery death is preferable to me.

Love is responsible for two-thirds of the happiness in the world—also for nine-tenths of the misery.

STORM PASSED

Fair Weather Reported From Southern Part of State.

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—Storm conditions are greatly improved in Los Angeles this morning. The day dawned bright and clear and the indications are that the storm has passed, although showers are predicted by the weather forecaster for today.

The railroad condition, with the exception of the Salt Lake, is also greatly bettered. The Salt Lake has lost up to 70 miles of track between Caliente and Las Vegas and it will probably be Thursday, if not later, before trains can be sent through. In the meantime the company is declining to sell through tickets to Salt Lake and passengers will be routed over the Southern Pacific by way of Sacramento.

All communication to the south with San Diego is cut off, with the exception of the De Forrest wireless. A great deal of commercial matter in addition to the Associated Press news, is being transmitted to San Diego by that method. The wireless is handling all business without difficulty.

Reports from outside towns indicate that all immediate danger from floods has passed. The damage in several localities will be considerable. The greatest damage perhaps has been in Riverside county, where the San Jacinto river has ruined many ranches and destroyed crops. The noted health resort of Idyllwild, in that county, is completely shut off from all communication with the outside world owing to the destruction of the stage road several miles in length. On this road two large bridges were carried out, entailing a loss of $15,000. There is not a large number of people at Idyllwild at present.

The loss in this city will not be large aside from the damage done to Sunset and Echo parks which were completely inundated. The damage there will amount to several thousand dollars. The street department figures its damages resultant from the storm also at several thousands.

Trains on the Southern Pacific are moving in all directions, but very slowly, however. The track is washed out in several places, but it is thought these places can be quickly repaired and all trains are being sent out with orders to proceed slowly and make no attempt to observe regular running schedules. The roadbed is very soft and the company will take all precautions.

The Santa Fe is not so fortunate. Their line to San Diego and the south is still badly affected. There are several serious washouts and it is not likely that the line will be open before Wednesday.

BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

FIRST NATIONAL OF TEXAS
GOES OUT OF BUSINESS.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Comptroller of the Currency has been advised that the First National Bank of West Texas closed its doors today.

The national bank examiner has been appointed receiver.

The following is a statement of the resources and liabilities of the bank at the date of its last report of condition, January 29, 1906:

Resources—Loans and discounts, $60,845, overdrafts, $44,368, United States bonds and premiums, $6508, furniture and fixtures, $2855, real estate, $12,227, due from banks and bankers, $17,540, cash and cash items, $12,253. Total, $187,505.

Liabilities—Capital, $250,000, surplus and profits, $14,551, circulation, $2250, due to banks and bankers, $736; deposits, $113,065. Total, $157,596.

COULD NOT AGREE ON WAGE SCALE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 27.—The joint scale committee of the bituminous coal operators and miners of the Central Competitive District, after being in session one week, decided today to report a disagreement to the joint conference of miners to be held at 2 o'clock. The committee was in session but a short time today.

The national officers of the miners in committee yesterday had strongly reiterated their former declarations that under no circumstances would they sign a scale at anything less than an advance in wages of 5.55 percent and President Perry of the Illinois miners had assured the operators that no Illinois union or district would be allowed to sign unless the advance was given to every union miner in the State. This ultimatum was received by the operators in silence and an adjournment was then taken until this morning, when the motion to report a disagreement was at once offered by President Mitchell of the miners, and carried unanimously.

TO LAY A DOUBLE TRACK

MAYOR OF ALAMEDA CALLS THE TRANSIT COMPANY TO TIME.

ALAMEDA, March 27.—Mayor W. J. Gorham discovered the fact that the Oakland Traction Company Consolidated intended to lay only a single track, with switches, on Santa Clara avenue, between Park and High streets. This mode of transit would greatly discommode the traveling public, often meaning a delay of several minutes en route to Oakland and elsewhere while the cars were waiting for each other on the switch.

Mayor Gorham immediately took the matter in hand and interviewed the street railway people. They consented to lay a double track on the thoroughfare if the City Trustees would not delay the work by having to pass an ordinance granting them the privilege, which would mean a stoppage of several weeks in their remodeling work. The Mayor looked into the matter and decided that it was for the best interests of the city to have a double track laid, and the street car people will commence work on it within the next few days. The resolution, which will be introduced and passed at the next meeting of the City Trustees, reads as follows:

"Whereas, it has come to the notice of this Board of Trustees that the Oakland Traction Consolidated, in reconstructing its railroad on Santa Clara avenue between Park and High streets, in the city of Alameda, is about to lay only a single track thereon, and

"Whereas, it would be to the great advantage of the traveling public if the Oakland Traction Consolidated would lay a double track upon the above-mentioned portion of Santa Clara avenue; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by this Board of Trustees, That the president of the board be directed, on behalf of the board, to request the Oakland Traction Consolidated, in reconstructing its railroad on Santa Clara avenue, to lay a double track thereon between Park and High streets."

NOTICE TO SCHOOL TEACHERS.

On April 3 the Santa Fe Railway will run a special excursion to the Grand Canyon of Arizona. This excursion will be personally conducted, and the extremely low rate of $30.00 for the round trip will be made. Full information of J. J. Warner, General Agent, 1115 Broadway, Oakland. Reservations should be made as early as possible.

THE LATEST, GREATEST, LARGEST, BEST AND CHEAPEST OF ALL AMERICAN ENCYCLOPEDIAS. Delivered to you AT ONCE for only a FEW CENTS a day

28,000 Pages : 7,000 Illustrations : 40 Volumes

Former Prices Prohibitive

Heretofore the best Encyclopedias have been put on the market at abnormally high figures, ranging from $80 to $120—prices which only the very rich could afford to pay. In order to overcome this obstacle the Pacific Newspaper Union has made arrangements with the publishers of the Now Imperial Encyclopedia for an entire edition of that splendid work, which will be distributed to the public at about the actual cost of manufacture and on terms within reach of every income.

Direct From Binder to You

In entering upon this great educational enterprise, the Pacific Newspaper Union acts as a purchasing agent, representing both the publishers and the public. On account of our immense purchasing and distributing powers, we are able to guarantee the sale of a very large edition. The plan is to distribute it by means of a great Co-operative Club, which will be entirely eliminate all middle profits. Complete sets are shipped direct from the binders to purchasers. As a result of this great saving, those who join the Club are able to secure the Club's newest and best reference library at a price heretofore unheard of in the annals of publishing.

HOW TO GET A SET

It is impossible to describe the plans and purposes of this Club, and the plan of sale whereby members may have the complete Encyclopedia delivered to them at once, and pay for it at the rate of a few cents a day if you are interested, write to-day for full particulars. Do not put it off until to-morrow; to-morrow may be too late. Only one edition has been contracted for, and when it has been distributed no more applications will be received. This Club was organized for your benefit. No one will be to blame but yourself if you do not get an Encyclopedia now while the opportunity is here. Tear off the coupon and mail it to us to-day. STILL HAS HER LOVE

Mother of Deceived Girl Offers Protection of Home.

"My home shall always be my daughter's home, no matter what may be her misfortune, or the notoriety that has come to her through her marriage with this man Yates."

Thus spoke Mrs. H. Petrie, a handsome matron, residing at 999 Grace street, whose young daughter, Emma, a former candy girl employed in Haas' establishment in San Francisco, now languishes at Reno, Nev., while her "husband," W. B. Yates, remains in the custody of the police, who hold him on a charge of bigamy, preferred by his first wife, with whom he resided at San Bruno before the affair with Miss Emma Petrie engaged his attention.

"Mr. Yates was such a perfect gentleman, with such winning manners," said the distracted mother today, "that I could not believe but Emma was making a good match in marrying him. Yates thought it would be so romantic to go on to Reno and have the marriage performed there, and I consented, without any idea that he really wanted to get away where his first wife would not know he was marrying again."

"I sent Emma a telegram this morning telling her that if she needed money to wire me and I would send it to her. Thank goodness we do not lack for money, as Mr. Petrie gets his $600 a month as superintendent of the Queen mine in Mexico and we have everything we want."

Mrs. Petrie resented the statement in a news dispatch from Reno where, in an account of Yates and his girl wife's troubles, the young woman was referred to as an Italian. The Petries are English folk.

A CANDY GIRL.
Emma Petrie has been permitted by her mother to serve as a candy girl at Haas' in San Francisco during the last year, because "it was lonely for her at the house on Grace avenue in Oakland." She met Yates in the city, was fascinated with his dashing ways and his 240 pounds of muscular good looks. Yates was a car-dispatcher and supposedly a single man. He wooed and won Miss Petrie in three months.

"He always told me he liked my tea," said Mrs. Petrie, "and I could not believe but he was a fine man. He had the way with him that women like, but he meant nothing by it, I suppose. It was with him a case of 'kiss and forget.' I suppose I did not think a man could fool me, but there are more tricks than I know of, evidently."

Mrs. Petrie was informed several days ago by Mrs. Yates No. 1 that the girl had married another woman's husband while she was united to Yates in Reno a few weeks ago. Then Mrs. Petrie counseled the excited Mrs. Yates to settle her affair with Yates quietly, but the woman preferred to let the police charge of the case, and so it was that Yates was arrested on the bigamy charge in Reno yesterday. His wife is especially bitter against Yates, because, as she alleges, he pawned her jewelry and other possessions for money to use in courting the beautiful Miss Petrie.

WATER EVIDENCE SUBMITTED

COUNCIL TAKES UP THE MATTER AND CASE IS UNDER ADVISEMENT.

The City Council, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, met last night and accepted the evidence submitted by City Attorney McElroy on behalf of the city in fixing the water rates. The evidence was solely documentary. It consisted of all of the testimony in the Hart suit of 1901 and all of the annual reports submitted by the Contra Costa Water Company since that time.

Donny City Attorney O'Brien offered the evidence in the Hart case for consideration. Attorney Melvin C. Chapman, representing the Contra Costa Company, objected to the Council considering that evidence "that is too remote," said Chapman, "to apply to the present case. I object to such evidence being introduced."

Chapman's objection and the testimony was admitted in evidence. Attorney O'Brien then offered in evidence all of the annual reports filed by the water company since the Hart case. These were admitted into evidence without objection. After this was done Councilman Pendleton moved that the matter be submitted to a second motion.

This brought Councilman Burns to his feet with the request that evidence on behalf of the city be taken. Councilman Pendleton announced that City Attorney McElroy had carefully considered the matter of submitting evidence and had come to the conclusion that the documentary evidence before the committee was all that was necessary. It is probable that the water rates will be agreed on at the regular meeting of the Council.

TALKS OF KOREA'S RESURRECTION

"The Record of Japan's Industrial Invasion of Korea" was the subject of an address by Robert W. Ritchie before the Ebell Club last evening.

Mr. Ritchie discussed "the resurrection of a nation," as exemplified by Japan's efforts in the little island said he: "The Far East is watching today the progress of a remarkable experiment, upon the success of which depends the destiny of a great new nation, and the very existence of a second, a decrepit relic of the ancient hierarchy of Oriental despots."

"The experiment is that initiated by Japan in Korea. It is an experiment in the surgery of economics, the therapeutics of sociology; a capital operation in statecraft has been performed already and the dangerous period of convalescence and regeneration is yet to come."

"Korea, gangrenous with the rot of centuries' decay, and trembling to a dotage of oblivion, was put on the table for the operation by the Japanese armies of occupation in the late war, by one swift and unerring cut her independence was taken away by Marquis Ito in the convention of November 18th last, and now the process of remoulding, revivifying the once moribund and high extinct nation must be undertaken by the ingenious, undaunted people of Japan."

CLEVE BAKER IS BACK FROM EAST

Cleve Baker has just returned to Oakland after a month's sojourn in the East. Mr. Baker visited New York, Chicago and other Eastern cities, besides various points in Canada, during his absence.

Mr. Baker declares himself delighted in getting back to his own climate again, and today was combining the pleasant occupation of shaking hands with his friends with basking in the warm sunshine.

Gratitude makes thousands of willing witnesses. There are many grateful people in Oakland. The testimony of friends and neighbors of people you know, is evidence beyond dispute. Read this statement by an Oakland citizen:

J. J. Lawrence, of 166 Seventh street, Oakland, Cal., says: "If you wish you may use my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills because I know they are very effective and have done me much good. My trouble was a lame back and pain across the small of my back, which had annoyed me for about two years. I was first attacked by the trouble when I was down in Brooklyn looking after some mining interests. The first box did me so much good that I continued using the remedy until I was completely relieved. Every kidney sufferer should know about Doan's Kidney Pills."

GOVERNOR PARDEE TELLS OF WATER-FRONT CASE

Reviews Past and Present Litigation Relative to the Rights of Oakland.

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—Governor Pardee, in an interview with a newspaper correspondent, talked at some length about Oakland water front matters, defending his action in the recent litigation. He said:

"I noticed the editorial article on the Oakland water front which appeared in a San Francisco paper of March 21. The writer of which commented upon what he supposed to be my attitude toward the matter."

"The first time the Oakland water front matter came up after I became Governor I submitted a number of questions to the Attorney-General and requested an opinion. I wanted to find out what legal method, if any, had been provided for the acquisition by railroad and ferry companies of needed rights of way over submerged lands in Oakland harbor, and also the State's rights in the water front property could be exercised to protect the State's interests and at the same time to give transportation companies the facilities to carry on their legitimate business."

MATTER IN LEGAL CHAOS.

"But when I received the opinion of the Attorney-General, who went into the subject at great length, it was made plain that the whole matter was in a sort of legal chaos, because, while the State owned that portion of the water front conceded to it under the decision of the California Supreme Court in the Oakland water front case, the Legislature had never given to any executive officer or officers the power to exercise control over the property. In one part of his opinion the Attorney-General said: 'There is no method laid down in the codes of California by which a railroad corporation may acquire a right of way for the location and maintenance of roadbeds, tracks, wharves, piers, slips or terminal facilities over submerged lands beyond the corporate limits of the city of Oakland, which limits are the ordinary low tide line, and the only method left for such a corporation to pursue is to obtain a special grant from the Legislature.'"

"From this same opinion of the Attorney-General it appeared that if a railroad company or any other person should take illegal possession of the State's land under the waters of Oakland harbor the State's remedy would necessarily be sought in the courts by process of ejectment, injunction or by action to quiet title."

"I received this opinion of the Attorney-General in December, 1904, and the next month, when the Legislature met, I communicated to them the facts, explained the situation and called attention to the need of a statute which would vest control of the State's water front property in some executive officer or officers. But the Legislature adjourned without passing such an act."

ENTER THE WESTERN PACIFIC.

"After a year of quietude on the water front there came the sudden appearance of the Western Pacific, and in a short time litigation between that company and the Southern Pacific began. The latter, the San Francisco paper said: 'The State has great interests at stake in the Oakland water front. Why is the State not defending them? Why is it that the Governor has taken no steps toward perfecting the State's rights throughout the course of the contention over the State's property between these two powerful corporations?'"

"I will answer the above question very briefly by saying that when the litigation between the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific began I addressed a letter to the Attorney-General of the State asking him whether the occupation of certain lands by the Western Pacific and the suits arising therefrom involved any interest of the State, and if so, what the State should do to protect its interests. To this the Attorney-General replied, under date of February 23, 1906, by saying: 'I am entirely satisfied that any judgment or judgments that may be rendered in this litigation will not and cannot affect the rights of the State.' The Attorney-General further added: 'It is not entirely clear that the State would have the right to intervene, but it is clear there are no rights of the State involved which in any manner require intervention.'"

"This quotation from the Attorney-General explains why the State did not attempt to intervene in the litigation, and because it did not intervene it is not bound by Judge Morrow's decision recently rendered."

REASON FOR FORMER ACTION.

"But the article also refers to the time, some twelve or thirteen years ago, when I was Mayor of Oakland, and says that I then 'evinced great interest in water front matters, and, through prompt and drastic action, prevented the Southern Pacific from grabbing the very property now in litigation.' The editorial concluded by saying: 'Governor Pardee's anxiety to try this case is in marked contrast with his forceful and intelligent activity when Mayor of Oakland. The public is wondering what is the cause of the change.'"

"Permit me to assure the newspaper that there has been no change of sentiment on my part, but in the facts of the situation there has been a great deal of change. In 1893 the city of Oakland claimed to own the whole water front property, and we continued to maintain that claim until the Supreme Court of the State compelled us to give it up by deciding that the city owned next to nothing of the water front; it decided that a large part of the property belonged to the railroad company, and another large part to the State. At that time when the railroad company started to drive a row of piles fanning off the water front we obtained the property for the city, and the 'prompt and drastic action' referred to, which consisted in pulling up the piles, could be properly taken because there was no judicial decision to prevent."

SITUATION WAS CHANGED.

"But the situation was changed after the Supreme Court decided the Oakland water front case; no one can now deny the right of the railroad to make use of the portion of the property which had been given it by the Court, viz., the area between high tide and the low tide line. As for the land decreed to belong to the State, which consisted of the area below low tide line, it has been several times reported that the Southern Pacific was attempting to force its way again with a row of piles, and I have investigated these reports, but the fact was always found to be that it was only adding to the piles, could be properly taken because there was no judicial decision to prevent."

"With regard to the occupation of State land by the Western Pacific in its attempt to get a terminal on the deep water of the bay, that corporation did not attempt to assert a claim of ownership adverse to the State; its pleadings in the cases in court showed that it claimed only to hold subject to the right of the State. Under these circumstances there appeared to be no good reason to try to eject the Western Pacific and prevent it from obtaining a terminal, even though the corporation had any power to do this. But in this instance, as in the case of the Southern Pacific, my position was that the corporation was called upon to compensate the State for the privileges enjoyed."

GEORGE P. McNEAR BUYS A RANCH

SANTA ROSA, March 27.—The sale of one of the large ranches owned by the late James McNeare, pioneer and capitalist, was completed in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court yesterday morning. George P. McNear of Petaluma had previously bid $16,500 for the ranch. When this was announced in court, Harvey Brittain raised the bid ten per cent. McNear raised it up to $18,500 and Brittain went another $100 notch, making his bid $18,700. "I pass," shouted Brittain. Instantly there was laughter in the courtroom.

"Mr. Brittain says he passes," said Judge Seawell with enforced gravity. McNear later had the sale of the ranch confirmed to him, the heirs agreeing to his further advance to $18,850.

Doctors Baffled

Mrs. H. Larson, who was run down and whose case baffled the skill of doctors, is restored to complete health and strength by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I lost weight, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey," this lady, whose heart is filled with gratitude, writes.

"For some time I have suffered from a general rundown condition, which baffled the skill of all my doctors. I lost weight rapidly, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I began to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am now on my tenth bottle, and feel better than I have in a number of years past. I know that I am cured, and I want to thank you for it."—Mrs. H. GOVERNOR IS FOUND

Missing Official Found on the Road After Battle.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The official advice of the fight with the Puljanos, on the Island of Samar, Philippines, was received at the War Department today from Governor-General

McArthur as follows:

"Manila, March 26.—Secretary of War, Washington. Saturday morning, March 24th, Governor Curry had arranged to receive the surrender of the remaining Puljanos and leaders at Magtalon, Island of Samar. The leaders and 500 Puljanos with fourteen guns, presented themselves. Immediately before the surrender was to occur, the Puljanos' leader signalled and all made a bold rush. Judge Tobinger and the district school inspector occupying in the brush. Other Americans safe. The constabulary lost sixteen killed, wounded and missing, and some guns were lost. Thirty Puljanos were buried. Puljanos were pursued. Curry was lost thirty-six hours, but presently was found in road. He withdraws application for leave of absence and proposes to finish pacification. He reports the natives in the province actively assisting him. Each found zealous to exterminate Puljanos."

It is possible, of course, that in its desire to get even with the president, the Senate may kill some bills that are really meritorious.—Washington Post.

George P. McNear of Petaluma had previously bid $16,500 for the ranch. When this was announced in court, Harvey Brittain raised the bid ten per cent. McNear raised it up to $18,500 and Brittain went another $100 notch, making his bid $18,700. "I pass," shouted Brittain. Instantly there was laughter in the courtroom.

"Mr. Brittain says he passes," said Judge Seawell with enforced gravity. McNear later had the sale of the ranch confirmed to him, the heirs agreeing to his further advance to $18,850.

Chirardelli's Ground Chocolate

The ripened cocoa bean and pure sugar ground to the fineness of powder and blended to make a deliciously appetizing drink when made with hot milk.

But Chirardelli's Ground Chocolate has more than its palate pleasing taste to recommend it.

It is nutritious—highly so—as it contains the oil of the cocoa bean.

Give it to the children—drink it yourself—you'll begin to feel better after the first cup, especially if you have been drinking tea and coffee

Chirardelli's Ground Chocolate is sold at all grocers in hermetically-sealed tins. One-pound tin, 30c.

When you order GROUND CHOCOLATE be sure you get Chirardelli's—there's none other "just as good."

The Late Frederick Cox.

California lost a State-builder when Frederick Cox of Sacramento, former Senator, pioneer, millionaire, banker and rock-ribbed Democrat, passed away. Nature cast him in a large mould physically and mentally. His heart was as big as his frame, and the breadth of his mind was typical of the wide expanses of the growing West into which he came as a boy and played a man's part all the years of a long, honorable and useful life. He will be missed from one end of the State to the other, and his absence from the places where his towering form and crown of whitening hair were familiar objects will be noted with a sense of personal loss by thousands.

Mr. Cox belonged to a splendid type of manhood. He was a successful business man who was never hard, a politician who was never a time-server, a friend who was never sordid, a citizen who never forgot his duty to his country. All his life he took a keen personal interest in politics, yet he was never ambitious to hold office, never active in politics to achieve financial ends. He was a true individualist, a consistent believer in the doctrine that the government which governs the least is the best government for the higher development of the race and the individual. His views came to him naturally as a temperamental heritage, and were not the quotient of subtle philosophical examination. Hence he was a Democrat of the ancient breed—stalwart, upright, frank, generous and courageous.

Notwithstanding the iron in his blood, Senator Cox was gentle and courteous in demeanor, tolerant of opposing opinions and broadly charitable in his judgment of others. He could understand and sympathize with weaknesses in others which never tainted his own character. He was genially indulgent of foibles and idiosyncrasies, but quick to detect real flaws and the fine grain of those with whom he came in contact. Being a good mixer he was a rare judge of men individually and collectively.

Mr. Cox was as staunch in his friendships as he was unyielding in his convictions. He did not effervesce. He was neither effusive nor obtrusive in manifesting his attachments, but he responded to calls on his friendship with unstinted readiness. He stood the gaff, as they say in Arizona, and said little about it. A man of simple tastes, by no means prodigal in his habits, he was helpful and generous in a large-handed way. No one ever charged him with doing a mean or underhanded thing, or practicing deception on anyone. His open face and frank eyes were a certificate of character from the Almighty.

For nearly two generations Senator Cox was a conspicuous figure at Democratic State conventions. His commanding stature and dignified carriage marked him as a man of consequence. Until he withdrew himself from active participation in politics, because of advancing years and lack of sympathy with his party's leadership, Senator Cox was influential in Democratic councils and was looked up to as wise and conservative in his views. He never sacrificed his convictions to popularity, and seemingly cared little for the glamors of office. His nomination for Governor was often urged, but he would never move a finger to gain the honor and discouraged his friends from making efforts in his behalf. He preferred to remain a plain citizen and fight in the ranks. Under all circumstances he was a true man. He was a citizen of whom Sacramento was justly proud.

The notion that the Spring Valley Water Company should not pay taxes on its property in Alameda county because the taxes are ultimately paid by the water consumers of San Francisco is hardly worthy of serious consideration. It has no substantial basis in law or logic. San Francisco taxes all Spring Valley property within her jurisdiction, and the objection to other counties taxing such property of the corporation as lies within their jurisdiction is absurd and illogical. The Spring Valley's chief sources of supply are within San Mateo and Alameda counties and constitute taxable property. The idea that this property should go untaxed merely because it would make water a trifle cheaper in San Francisco is both selfish and impudent.

"Yes, we are barking," says the Berkeley Gazette. Let it go at that.

Pennycook Endorses Knowland.

Some of the San Francisco correspondents have been running W. D. Pennycook, editor of the Vallejo Chronicle, with great energy as a candidate for Congress against Hon. J. R. Knowland. The following editorial paragraph from the Chronicle indicates that Mr. Pennycook is not in the confidence of the aforesaid correspondents:

"The news published in another column shows what can be accomplished with having at Washington a faithful and energetic representative. Congressman Joseph R. Knowland has won the gratitude and support of the people of Vallejo, and as he has worked for them, so will they be loyal to him. The building of the collier here means as much for the Third District and the State of California as it does for our city, for the big sum of money that will go in the way of wages to the workmen will in the end be distributed throughout the Third District and the State. It is a victory to be proud of, and the Chronicle extends to Congressman Knowland its hearty congratulations on his grand success."

It is not unlikely that the correspondents are trying to live up their political gossip by putting Congressional and gubernatorial candidates in the field without consulting the alleged candidates. This will do for the early days of spring, but when the hustling days of the primaries come along, running fake candidates will not serve to lend interest and vivacity to political views. The correspondents will then have to come down to the cold facts.

Figuring Against Facts.

Having revised its figures, the Berkeley Gazette places the total population of Alameda county at 184,000, claiming 31,000 for Berkeley. Then it asks if Berkeley is not entitled to a Supervisor. There is nothing to hinder a Berkeley man from being a Supervisor, and we are not arguing against the candidacy of Berkeley men. We merely pointed out certain facts, incidentally exposing the absurdity of the Gazette's statements regarding the population of this county.

But let us test the Gazette's claim by an examination of its revised figures. One-fifth of 184,000 is 36,800. The Gazette claims only 31,000 for Berkeley, therefore on the population basis of apportionment the University City lacks 5400 of having enough inhabitants to qualify as a separate district.

Alameda wants to be a separate district, but Alameda contains 20,000 or less population—the Gazette will only allow the Encinal City 18,000. Giving Berkeley and Alameda one each and allowing one for the 45,000 population outside the cities would leave two for Oakland, which the Gazette is generous enough to concede 90,000 population. Under this arrangement 49,000 people in Berkeley and Alameda would have as many Supervisors as 90,000 people in Oakland.

But Oakland contains more than 90,000 inhabitants. The same basis of estimate on which a population of 31,000 is figured out for Berkeley gives Oakland 110,000 inhabitants, more than three times Berkeley's population. That is, if Berkeley contains 31,000 inhabitants, Oakland contains at least 110,000, and according to the Gazette's figuring should have three Supervisors all to itself. As a matter of fact, it has not a single one, sharing two with Berkeley and one with Alameda.

It should be apparent that the apportionment for Supervisors cannot be made by municipalities, because to do so will make the representation unequal. Some places will get too much and others too little. The Gazette acknowledges this when it gravely proposes to allow one Supervisor for 31,000 people in Berkeley and one for 45,000 people in the rural districts. Underestimating Oakland's population, it proposes that 31,000 people in Berkeley shall have as much representation in the county board as 45,000 inhabitants of this city. And this is what it stentorously calls a demand for justice. It is a loud call, truly, but not a cry for justice. The Gazette should take another whirl at its political arithmetic.

The Examiner calls Emma Le Doux the most remarkable prisoner California ever had. She is certainly remarkable, but she cannot yet claim precedence over Theodore Durrant, who was the remarkable criminal of the last century.

Advantage of a Union Terminal.

Governor Pardee's explanation of the water front situation in Oakland, which we reprint from the San Francisco Chronicle, emphasizes anew the wisdom of making a general terminal station for all railways of Goat Island. Not only would it be a satisfactory settlement of all present and future controversies regarding terminal facilities on the Oakland water front, but it would be of incalculable benefit to the cities of San Francisco and Oakland. If one railroad should go to Goat Island, all others coming into Oakland would be compelled by the force of circumstances to go there. The people of Sacramento endeavored to have the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific unite in erecting a union station, but neither company seems to have taken the matter under favorable consideration. Nevertheless, a union station is precisely what Sacramento needs, and the fact is universally recognized in the Capital City. The peculiarity of the situation in Oakland would compel the several roads to use Goat Island as a terminus in case a union station were established there. Every citizen of Oakland realizes what a convenience it would be to the traveling and shipping public. All the legal complications which are now fretting the public and delaying railway development would vanish if the suggestion for a union terminal on Goat Island were carried out.

The Supervisors have wisely and properly turned down the proposition to create a new township by dividing Eden Township. As THE TRIBUNE remarked last week, the heaviest taxpayers in the proposed township were opposed to its creation while there was no genuine public sentiment in favor of it. Nor was any convincing reason presented for dividing Eden Township. The Supervisors did the only right thing under the circumstances, and unanimously voted against creating a new political division and a new set of township officers.

The Grass Valley Union, which has of late manifested a disposition to speak ill of Oakland on all occasions, locates the shooting of Mello by McDonald in this city. The shooting took place in Pleasanton, and all the parties concerned reside there.

THE SIN OF TARDINESS.

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE recently published a sarcastic editorial on the theory that the man who loses the most time in this world is the one who is always prompt in fulfilling his engagements. It cites the fact that if he is at hand on time at any business or social function, he must wait with what patience he can command until the dilatory majority choose to keep their appointments. And all the time he so waits is simply time lost to him.

This is a fact which is probably applicable in many cities, and is peculiarly so in San Jose. The disposition of our people to take their time in meeting their social engagements is a fact of common notoriety.

Our tradesmen may deliver goods on time, or some other time. Our members of public or business bodies come when they get ready, regardless of the hour fixed. Our audiences at places of amusement are pretty sure to be half an hour late. The church goes straggles to his pew after the service is well under way.

In social engagements, even at dinners, where promptness is a cardinal virtue and tardiness the worst of crimes, the same rule holds.

It must be taken back that tardiness at such functions is the worst of crimes. This indifference to keeping engagements extends to the degree of ignoring them altogether, even where R. S. V. P. has been affixed to the invitation, which is the acme of social sinning.

This habit of tardiness is rank injustice to everyone who makes a practice of observing times of appointments and engagements. It wastes his time to no purpose and does him a double injury by depriving him of the benefit of his own promptness, and by preventing him from disposing of his valuable time in other business.

While it is injurious in business, it is the height of discourtesy in social affairs. It puts out all those who show a due deference for the usages of society. It practically amounts to saying, "If people want me they may wait for me."

It might be a good idea to put the time rule in operation in all cases, public or private, business or social, and see what will come of it. It may require a little nerve at first, but if it resulted in reforming habitual tardiness, it would amply vindicate its proponents. —San Jose Mercury.

MANAGED SALOON AS CHURCH WOULD DO IT

Death of Liquor Seller Who Conducted Business Along Unique Lines.

PITTSBURG, March 27.—Frank Merkel, known to almost everyone in Pittsburgh as the man who conducted his saloon as he thought the congregation of a church would conduct it, died last night at his home here.

Although he had been in the saloon business for almost a quarter of a century, there was never a remonstrance filed against granting a license to him.

There never was a fight in Merkel's saloon. If a drunken man entered he was refused drink. If a man entered sober and drank so much that he was nearing intoxication, no more drinks would be sold to him. On Christmas, Fourth of July and all other national holidays Merkel closed the saloon. He believed that men should stay away from saloons on such occasions and spend their time with their families.

Merkel left a fortune amounting to several hundred thousand dollars.

CHURCH COMPROMISES WITH GIRL "BREWERY"

Charges Against Miss Lewis, Congregation's Benefactress, Withdrawn.

PITTSBURG, March 27.—Charges against Miss Martha M. Lewis, because she holds brewing stock left by Captain Samuel Brown, have been withdrawn by members of the Mary S. Brown Memorial Church. This church was built by Captain Brown, and has accepted a bequest of $70,000 from him although one faction assailed Miss Lewis for keeping his "tainted money."

The warring factions, for Miss Lewis has many friends, compromised the fight tonight. Miss Lewis promised that she would resign as secretary of the Sunday School and sever her connection with the church.

The young woman was a great favorite of the turf king, and it was through her work that the church was built and endowed by Brown. It is understood that the church will split, and if so, the money will be held by the trustees and turned into the millionaire's estate.

The church committee appointed to investigate the charges against A. D. Salee, preferred by a brother of Miss Lewis, today reported the charges of "professional trouble-maker" unfounded.

Salee is the Sunday School teacher who accused Miss Lewis of being "stockholder in a brewery."

When Miss Lewis heard that Salee had been cleared she wept.

In studying the physical characters of well-to-do town residents one is often struck by the fact that the children appear robust, but the men are thin and haggard. These differences are not due to age. They do not result from differences of food or of air. They are brought about partly by the harassing worry of business life, as compared with care-free childhood, and partly by the health-destroying manner in which many men pass their hours of relaxation, as compared with the simple, natural and temperate pleasures of childhood.

In studying the physical characters of well-to-do town residents one is often struck by the fact that the children appear robust, but the men are thin and haggard. These differences are not due to age. They do not result from differences of food or of air. They are brought about partly by the harassing worry of business life, as compared with care-free childhood, and partly by the health-destroying manner in which many men pass their hours of relaxation, as compared with the simple, natural and temperate pleasures of childhood.

He nor his father was armed, and the police suspect that Christy wounded himself to convey the impression that he shot Meissinger in self defense. He was taken in custody and lodged in jail at Lancaster.

DON'T LOSE YOUR REAL HUSBAND BY SEEKING THE IDEAL

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

The ideal husband—what a factor he is in a girl's life between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one! His requisite qualities change almost daily.

On Monday he is tall and dark, with masterful ways and piercing eyes.

On Tuesday he is a lazy, blue-eyed Adonis, with distractingly indifferent mannerisms.

On Wednesday he has evolved into a dreamy, scholarly person, who will lead his wife to unknown heights of bliss and culture.

And so it goes, the ideal that seemed all-sufficient on Monday is totally and disappointingly inadequate by Saturday.

The changes are largely dependent on the novels read and theaters visited in the meantime.

Sometimes, that most adored of all matinee idols, may reign supreme on Wednesday, only to be deposed on Saturday by Hackett, his direct antithesis.

Each has his day, and while he reigns, his characteristics and qualities are considered absolutely necessary in an ideal husband.

Not one girl in ten marries her ideal, and perhaps it is just as well that she does not, as it would be rather perplexing to marry your ideal and then find out that though he had not changed, your ideas regarding ideals had.

Just as Diogenes, with his lantern held aloft, searched for an honest man, does the young girl with the searchlight of her innocence search for her ideal man.

Perhaps it is owing to the fact that she is constantly looking for a different type that she so rarely finds him.

As she grows older she realizes that the man she considered perfect at sixteen meets few of the more mature requirements of twenty.

She sees on all sides that women are happily married to men that never came within a thousand miles of any girl's ideal.

Were she to ask any of these women if they had married the ideals of their girlhood they would probably exclaim, "Thank goodness, no!"

Dear little girls, with your heads and hearts full of your impossible ideals, I don't want to disenchant you with your heroes, but don't you see that a very young girl has not the insight and experience with which to judge of a man's capability of making an ideal husband?

She knows what she would like, but she does not know what is necessary. I am not going to destroy all her rose-colored visions. The ideal husband may be tall and masterful, a scholar, an Adonis, a millionaire, but he must be a good many other things as well.

He must be an upright, manly man, one whom she can respect and who respects and honors women.

A woman can be perfectly happy with a man who is neither tall, handsome, scholarly nor rich, but she cannot be happy with a man whom she does not respect.

All women love the masterful man, but he must be gentle in his masterfulness.

No woman would be happy with a man who always lets her have her own way.

The ideal husband is master of his home, but he fully acknowledges the rights of his wife to be mistress of her own domain.

He is able to support her in comfort and treats her as though she were an intelligent human being, not a pretty puppet.

The trouble with many girls is that in their search for heroes they pass by the fine, manly men, those who, though they may not have special claim to any unusual qualities, will nevertheless make the best of husbands.

Be careful, girls; don't lose the real when looking for the ideal.

TO WIN YOUNG TO THE CHURCH One Pastor Adds Billiard-rooms and Dance Halls—Another in Favor of Marriage Bureau.

CHICAGO, MARCH 27.—WHILE ONE CHICAGO MINISTER IS ESTABLISHING BILLIARD ROOMS AND DANCE HALLS TO KEEP HIS YOUNG MEMBERS FROM STRAYING, ANOTHER ANNOUNCES A MATRIMONIAL PARLOR.

REV. JOHN S. THOMPSON, IN ANNOUNCING A "SOCIAL GATHERING," SAID: "THIS WILL BE AN EXCELLENT CHANCE FOR YOUNG MEN TO FIND SUITABLE WIVES AND YOUNG WOMEN TO SELECT HUSBANDS, HANDSOME AND DEVOTED. WHAT BETTER PLACE COULD BE FOUND TO CHOOSE A LIFE PARTNER THAN IN THE SHADOW OF THE CHURCH? I BELIEVE IN MARRIAGE, AND THE CHURCH SHOULD AFFORD OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TO BECOME ACQUAINTED. IF THE CHURCHES DO NOT THE SALOONS AND DANCE HALLS WILL."

REV. R. A. WHITE, IN DEFENSE OF HIS BILLIARD ROOM AND DANCE HALL, SAID: "IF THE CHURCH FROWNS ON THESE AMUSEMENTS WE MUST NOT BE SURPRISED TO SEE YOUNG PEOPLE GO ELSEWHERE FOR THEM. EVERY CHURCH IN CHICAGO SHOULD HAVE BILLIARD ROOMS AND DANCE HALLS. I ALSO FAVOR MUNICIPALLY CONDUCTED DANCE HALLS WHICH COULD BE CONNECTED WITH THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS. THESE THINGS ARE HERE TO STAY. WE WOULD BETTER CONDUCT THEM OURSELVES."

NO MORE BABIES, SO PAIR ADOPTS 11

Now Kentucky Couple Has Sixteen Girls, All Very Young.

GLASGOW, Ky., March 27.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eonis, of this county, are probably the only married couple in the world with sixteen children, all girls, are legally their own, whose ages range from 3 to 11 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Eonis have been married twelve years, and when their hoped-for sixth child did not arrive, they yearned for more little ones, and adopted two at once. Then, from time to time, one was picked up here and another there, till eleven little orphans were adopted.

As the children were adopted, they were taken before the court and legally received the name of Eonis.

"It began to look as though the Lord was not going to give us any more babies," said Mrs. Eonis, "and as we wanted more, we picked them up."

Mr. and Mrs. Eonis are well to do. They will go to Florida, where they have bought a large orange grove, and where the little ones will be reared.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A glass of hot lemonade before retiring will often prevent a cold.

Furrows should never be used on the hands. A bit of lemon will answer its purpose, without making the fingers rough and calloused.

Don't use cold water when giving the face a cosmetic scrub. Warm water, followed by a dash of cold water, is better.

Hot milk, heated to as high a temperature as it can be drunk, is a most refreshing stimulant in cases of cold or over-fatigue.

A Swedish method of producing sleep is to write out a handkerchief in icy-cold water and lay it across the eyes, when it is said to act like magic.

A pomade for strengthening brittle nails is made of one-fourth of an ounce of pistachio or almond oil, sixteen grains of table salt, sixteen and one-half grains of powdered resin, sixteen and one-half grains of powdered alum, forty grains of white wax and one grain of carmine. Melt the wax and resin in an earthen dish set in a basin of boiling water. Stir and remove from the heat, immediately adding the oil, salt, alum and carmine in the order given. The mixture must be beaten constantly and put into a little jar. Apply at night to the nails, rubbing it well around the cuticle.

Sulphur baths are of value in rheumatism. Take one tablespoonful of burnt lime. Mix into a paste with one wineglassful of cold water, and let it remain for ten minutes. Then stir into one gallon of water. To this add one ounce of milk of sulphur. Raise to the boiling point in a suitable vessel and keep boiling for ten minutes. Now transfer to the bath, and add two gallons of hot water. Use when pleasantly warm. Keep from the face, as the particles of sulphur, etc., are intensely irritating to the eyes.

WEDDED AT 11; DECREE AT 15

Judge Grants Divorce on Charge of "Extreme Cruelty."

LUMA, Ohio, Mar. 27.—Married at the age of eleven, June 20, 1901, in Paulding, Ohio, Mrs. Catharine O. Fowler was divorced here today at the age of fifteen. Her husband was Asa E. Fowler.

His whereabouts are unknown. When placed on the stand the child-wife told of extreme cruelty inflicted on her two months after her bridal night. The judge turned and said: "Why, little one, how old were you when you were married?"

"Eleven years of age, Your Honor," came the reply.

"Eleven years old? What is your age now?"

"I am fifteen."

Without more ceremony Judge Cunningham granted a decree, as he said, on any or every ground of the Ohio law, and restored the child to her maiden name of Wagner.

MRS. OLIVE REED CUSHMAN, WHO CONTRIBUTED TO THE MUSICAL PROGRAM TODAY AT EBELL.

Mrs. H. C. Capwell was hostess this afternoon at the Ebell, when a program of vocal and instrumental music was given, beginning at half past two. The lecture by W. J. McCoy on "The Planting and Its Literature" was full of interest to musicians, and the illustrations given by Miss Lucy Hamilton and Miss Rita Slater added to the enjoyment of the address.

A group of Mr. McCoy's songs were sung by Mrs. Olive Reed Cushman, who has become a great favorite in musical circles about the bay.

The decorations this afternoon of greens and spring flowers, were under the direction of Mrs. Edgar P. Stone, chairman, assisted by Mrs. George Meredith, Mrs. Frank W. Leavitt, Mrs. Hubert N. Rowell.

The instrumental numbers were as follows: Bach—Prelude and Fugue, C sharp major; Beethoven—Scherzo from Sonata, E flat, Op. 31; Chopin—Grand Polonaise, A flat, Op. 53; Songs: "Loved—Unloved," "Would You?" "Love Lies Dreaming," "June." Mendelssohn—Capriccio Brillante, in B minor, with second piano, string quartet, clarinet and flute; Grieg—Concerto, in A minor, with accompaniment as above.

Mrs. H. C. Capwell was assisted in receiving the guests today by Mrs. J. Hume, the board of directors, Mrs. C. J. Woodbury, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. Ernest J. Cotton, Mrs. F. R. Musser, Mrs. William R. Davis, Mrs. Harmon Bell, Mrs. H. G. Kendall, Mrs. J. W. Dille, and others.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Judson Peabody announce the engagement of their daughter Kathryn to Arthur R. Traphager, of Los Angeles. Miss Peabody is a society girl of Los Angeles, while the groom-to-be is well known here, being a graduate of the University of California and a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

The wedding will take place in June at the home of the bride.

ADELPHIAN CLUB.

The April Bulletin of the Adelphean Club has been arranged, and promises many pleasing events for the coming months. The following is the complete program:

April 2—Music history section; short sketches of different composers, with illustrations.

April 4—Wednesday, 10 a. m.; parliamentary law.

April 5—Thursday, 10 a. m.; annual meeting and election.

April 6—Friday 10 a. m.; 10 a. m. Choral Section; 2:30 p. m., Tourist Section, Stoddard lectures, Norway and Sweden.

April 7, 2:30 p. m.—Union meeting, concert under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Westgate; solo by Mrs. Grace Davis Northrop, Mrs. Carol Nicholson and Mr. Carrington. Mr. Lytton and Miss Westgate will play the Bach concerto with two violins and piano. April 9—Monday, 10 a. m., Civic Section.

April 10—Tuesday, 10 a. m., English literature, "American Poets of Today," concluded, Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Hunt.

April 11—Wednesday, 10 a. m., United States history, "Arkansas," the Twenty-fifth State Admitted," Mrs. Mary J. Parkhurst.

April 12—Thursday, 10 a. m., Shakespeare Section, "Henry the Fourth," concluded; 2:30 p. m., Art History Section, "Italian Art," fourth lecture, by Mrs. Fassett.

April 13—Friday, 10 a. m., Choral Section; 1:30 p. m., Advisory Board meeting.

April 14—Monday, 1:30 p. m., business meeting, followed by social meeting, for members only.

April 17—Tuesday, 10 a. m., Music History Section, musical morning, program arranged by Mrs. Fred Young.

WILL BE GUESTS.

Professor and Mrs. Charles Mills Gayley will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Calhoun on Thursday, the party attending the symphony concert at the Greek Theater.

CLUE MEETINGS.

Mrs. Pierre Olney was hostess yesterday at a delightful reunion of the members of the Hill Club at her attractive home on Moss avenue. Mrs. Walter Reed entertained the members of the Good Cheer Whist Club yesterday, and the hours were pleasantly spent over the cards, preceded by an informal luncheon.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Whipple Spear Hall, nee Crellyn, was the honored guest this afternoon at one of the prettiest affairs of the month, a card party planned by Mrs. William Hamilton Morrison. The affair was one of the most interesting given for the charming bride, who has recently returned from an extended honeymoon trip.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Florence Bruce was the guest of honor recently at a birthday party given at the home of Miss Edith Orth on Eleventh street.

The affair was a complete surprise, and the invited guests were: Misses Grace Vesper Dorothy Barton, Bessie Stanton, Lulu Bell, Marian Miller, Florence Bruce and Edith Orth, Jackson Smith, Odlin Stevens, Harry Isman, Oakes Brigham, Ross English, Easton Kent and Stuart Miller.

WILL ENTERTAIN.

Mrs. Andrew L. Stone will entertain Thursday afternoon at an informal card party, to be given at her beautiful home on Vernon Heights. The "afternoon" will be quite informal and includes about thirty-five guests.

The complimented guest is Miss McEwen, of Chicago, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stone at "Robe Crest."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Roy McCabe has been spending several days here as the guest of her mother, Mrs. B. A. Gaskill.

Mrs. Frederick Wirt Potter, nee Gray, is recovering from her recent illness and will soon leave Fabiola to spend several days with her parents before going to Kansas.

Miss Anna and Miss Margaret Franck have returned after a pleasant visit in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bray are in Southern California.

Mrs. Tracy Bell has recovered from her recent illness, and is able to be out again.

AT LUNCHEON.

Mrs. F. H. Dorras was hostess today at a pretty luncheon for her mother.

SPORTS—AMATEUR—PROFESSIONAL—SPORTS

THREE OAKLAND MEN RELEASED

President Walter of the Oakland Baseball Club, who has just returned from Bakersfield, where he was in company with Cal Ewing to take a look at the work of the team for 1906, announces that three of the surplus players taken to Bakersfield for a try-out have already been released.

They are Long, Oswald and Baer. Long was the outfielder who was signed to take the place of the recalcitrant Dunleavy, but "Dun" came to terms with the management yesterday afternoon and this made it unnecessary to retain Long any further. Dunleavy is to leave at once for the training grounds to join the squad there.

TWO CATCHERS GO.
Oswald and Baer are catchers. The strong showing of Bliss of the University of California, and Tom Hackett made it certain that the backstop department would be well filled, and that, too, by good stickers, so there was no use in paying the expenses of these men any longer.

There are now eight pitchers on the roll and some of these will be dismissed shortly in the effort to thin out the ranks. Only eight pitchers will be used at the start of the season and after things get going well this number will be reduced to five. It is evident, therefore, that some one will have to jump to get in the band wagon.

IBURG WANTS IN.
"Ham" Ibarg has been asking the management for the privilege of a conference and otherwise indicating his desire to get back on the team, but it is stated that the ranks are so full that there is no room for him. Reidy, Graham and Cates are regarded as fixtures with the team, and there are thus five men left, not counting the possibility of Ibarg, from which to select two or three men. Hopkins has been showing up well and so has Randolph. One of these men will probably be kept and this with Blexrud and Cox, the latter of whom has not yet been tried out, will provide sufficient twirling material.

HOGAN WON'T PLAY.
Hogan, another of the last year's men who failed to answer the call, does not expect to play ball this year, except for an occasional game in Bakersfield, where he lives and where he has a steady position with an electrical concern.

President Walter was surprised to learn while in Bakersfield that Reidy, who was reputed to be a slow ball artist of the "Ham" Ibarg variety, could whizz them along with the batter's head with all the speed of a "Rube" Waddell. The fact is, it is said, that Reidy has just about all that goes to make up a good pitcher's stock in peace, strength and a knowledge of all the fine points of the game.

PLEASED WITH SHOWING.
Mr. Walter is delighted with the showing of the boys in the south, despite the loss of the recent game to San Francisco. He says the team shows little, several of the players were suffering from minor injuries, as told by Manager Van Halten in last evening's TRIBUNE, and that the fans will see a gang of real ballplayers when the season opens.

Morris Levy attempted to "but into" the fighting game in Los Angeles, with a match between Gans and Sullivan, but Tom McCarey had the city council pass an ordinance hampering him, and when this was finally settled McCarey's newspaper friends scored the go until scarce a corporal's guard was present.

McCarey seems to be feuding with the girl.

ANOTHER CASE WHERE TWO IS COMPANY AND THREE IS A CROWD.

MURMURS OF WAR DRIFT HITHER FROM SEATTLE

If the Seattle papers are to be believed, the Mohler case is not even yet settled, and according to the murmurings from the North, an actual outbreak is favored rather than give up the fast second baseman.

The Swath town contains many who have tried to get the town out of the Pacific Coast League and back into the Northwest organization, and of course these people will use the incident to the best advantage.

One scribe says "Many of the fans take the position that they would split the Coast League wide open before they would let San Francisco come again by building."

Another thus explodes: "The San Francisco papers are chuckling with glee over the package that was shipped to the Seattle club in the Mohler case, by that committee of wise baseball men composed of Mr. Fisher, Walter McCredie and Jim Mohler."

AS TO BUSINESSLIKE.
"One of them says the San Francisco claim was 'It more businesslike shape' that would get a laugh anywhere the game is played. If any more businesslike way of signing a player than to get his signature to a contract has been devised, baseball men have never heard of it."

"Seattle has Mohler's signed contract."

and it is the only contract he has signed. Jim Mohler admitted after the meeting that the decision of the committee would likely be overruled if the Seattle club appealed the case to the national commission, but he did not attempt to justify his act in awarding the player to San Francisco in the face of the signed contract with the Seattle club.

"The men backing the Seattle team have been regarded as easy marks ever since they went into the Coast League. San Francisco took Mohler away from Seattle last year, and there was not a whimper from the owners of the Seattle club. This year an attempt is being made to again steal the player, notwithstanding the fact that he has signed a contract with the Seattle team to play here."

THE LIMIT.
"There is a limit to all things, including the good nature of the men who are backing the Seattle team. They intend to keep Mohler and San Francisco can go as far as it likes to get him away from here. San Francisco stole Mohler last year, and Seattle was put out of the running because the team did not have a second baseman."

If contacts are not to be respected in this league, it is time to call every thing off, and let Seattle get into a league that is run by baseball men who know the rules of the game and live up to them."

EDDIE BALD TO START IN RACING GAME NEXT MONTH

Eddie Bald will be in the racing game again this year and his first appearance will be at Atlantic City next month.

In the early days of the "horseless carriage," its cousinship with the bicycle was well identified by the steel tubing used for the frame, the wheels with tangent spokes and pneumatic tires, the chain and sprocket drive and other features. The evolution of the automobile from the automobile and the relationship between them seems about to be established now by the flying machine of Scarsus Yute the Russian, whose contrivance is a combination of the aeroplane and a runaway with a basket body.

The ground running part is used to get the aeroplane launched, in lieu of a tilted ramp, and as Professor Langley uses, or a running leap down hill, as is used by the Wright brothers. The light wheels perform another service, also in helping to absorb the jar when the man-bird returns to earth.

Beyond racing, or any other interest, the American Automobile Association will this year devote itself to providing touring information for its members. Secretary Gough has been in Chicago for a week straightening out his affairs there, but will be at the headquarters, 31 West Forty-second street, New York, pretty steadily from now on.

Paris has an annual show at which the exhibits are comprised solely of the devices of individual inventors. It is a small show, but one that answers succinctly the question of "what's new?" There ought to be enough Yankee ingenuity in this country to permit of such a show here.

On a long run, it is the average speed of the course that is apt to result in derangements that will reduce the average speed, thus in respect to hard and incandescent driving, the motor car has some points in common with a horse.

Amid the subject of a continuous trip between Chicago and New York is being negotiated by the New York and Chicago Road Association, of which W. L. Dickerson of Springfield, Mass., is president. The central route proposed for the highway is as follows: From New York up along the Hudson to Rhinebeck, thence across the river to Kingston, Delhi, Binghamton, Elmira, Hornellsville, Olean, Jamestown, Erie, Shabazz, Cleveland, Toledo, Butlers, South Bend and Chicago.

LEARNED LESSON.
A man who borrowed an automobile, with its chauffeur, from a friend, learned a lesson. The chauffeur and his driver had a reputation for fast driving and the borrower found himself a shining mark for the policemen. He was arrested three times the same day and now is sorry for his borrowing.

HANK O'DAY WANTS THE PITCHERS' BOX CLOSER

NEW YORK, March 27.—[Exclusive dispatch.] Hank O'Day, the famous National League umpire, at this late day has a new solution of the light hitting of the present time. It is that the pitcher is placed too far back and this is in radical opposition of the scheme of Ned Hanlon to move the slab artist still farther back. Though offered a little late, the suggestion will bear thought for another year. In case some of the overzealous slugger goes again tall to pass the 300 mark, "The average batter is unable to correctly time the pitcher's delivery at this time," says O'Day, "so I cannot see how Hanlon's suggestion of moving the pitcher still farther back would help the battering in the least. As the pitcher has become moved back the hitting has become lighter, so the inference is that the delivery cannot be gauged as well at the longer distance. Based on quite a few years' observation, both with and without the umpire's indicator, it is that the pitcher should be moved up five feet, or to fifty-five feet from the plate, and then his increased speed would be more than offset by the ability of the batsman to divine the direction of the ball. Many a sweat misses connection in the last five feet of the ball's course."

THE FARM HAS CHARM FOR MAN WITH THE ARM

PORTLAND, March 27.—[Deacon] Ed Van Buren is going to be a farmer. No more baseball for him. If he makes good in his new line of business, and there is every reason to believe he will, Van was offered a job with the Seals by Parke Wilson, after that individual was restored to the carona, but he refused it, as he thought he had a proposition that is much better.

The new trade will have to do with promoting a vineyard in Colusa county, and Van ought to have all the wine he wants to drink, before he is through with the proposition. Here is what he writes to Andy Anderson:

"I am getting ready to leave San Francisco by next Saturday. Am going on the road with Salisbury. He is promoting a vineyard in Colusa county, California. Parke Wilson was very anxious to sign me, but I refused all offers. If I fail, will surely look for a job, baseball of course. The new job looks good, and that is all I have to say about my change."

Van ought to be getting into his element when it comes to looking after a vineyard. He is a popular fellow and, while a quiet man, he is "sure to make friends wherever he goes."

HOW A WOMAN EXCUSED MARVIN HART'S DEFEAT

Jack Curley, who acted as press agent and general booster for Marvin Hart before that exploded wonder was sent down the coast sheet by Tommy Burns, has from here, San Francisco, sent a friend the following letter to a friend in California.

"Dear Friend: I am just getting my hands in shape to get off a few on my trusty typewriter. It is not that I have been ashamed to face my old pal, Remington No. 8776, but my mits were really sore. In the walk home from Los Angeles my feet gave out. To relieve them I walked on my hands part of the way in Salt Lake City. I met a kind friend who slipped me transportation home to Chicago. It's a good thing to have friends some time, but since my home-coming, my friends have proved a nuisance. Everywhere I turn I meet a pal who wants to know 'How did it happen' and what was the matter with Hart?"

BEST EVER.
"Right here I want to spring the best story ever. Out in the suburb where I live, my wife is looked upon as a great authority on pugilistic matters. The milkman, grocer's boy, the butcher and the corner druggist all come to her for advice on ring events. Of course in the Hart-Burns bout she was positive Hart would win. She touted him everywhere—nothing to it but Hart."

"The morning after the bout her heart nearly broke and when coming out of the house she had to look forty ways to be sure none of the neighbors would see her. She got away with it for a few hours but at last the woman in Flat B came out and nailed her in the doorway."

"Well, I see that big dud didn't win last night," was the greeting.
"It was a hopeless case but the wife made a stab at it."

TOOK A CHANCE.
"Oh, well," said she, fumbling a little. "Mr. Hart is a very large man and Mr. Burns is a very small man—too small for Mr. Hart to hit without seriously hurting him. And you know he has always been VERY kind-hearted."

"When people ask me about it, I give them Mr. Curley's version of the fight. In vain they protest against it. Never will I leave her behind again."

HOLE IN DOOR WON THIS BALL GAME FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 27.—At a fanning bee where many of the old-timers were assembled the three following stories were told:

As soon used to say, "The luck evened up." But it never does. There are lucky clubs and unlucky clubs in baseball, and luck is one of the biggest elements in the game.

The runs of good and bad luck that come to teams either get them so full of confidence that they can't be beat or discourage them so that they could not win a game with a high sky.

The old Chicago team was playing Washington, and in the ninth inning Chicago was two runs in the lead with two on bases and two out when Lange capped a hot grounder toward short. It looked easy, but the shortstop fumbled, and Lange was safe. One run scored, and Ryan, who had been on second, turned third and dashed for the plate, seemingly throwing away the game.

RECOVERED BALL.
De Mont, the Washington shortstop, recovered the ball and made a quick snap throw to the plate, but the throw was high and the ball went over the catcher's head to the stand, rolled up an inclined door by which players reached the dressing room, and thence through a hole which had been cut in the stand so that a player could reach a hand through an open door. Lange scored, winning the game for Chicago.

After the game was over Joe Campbell tried to drive a ball through that hole by main force and failed; the hole was too small. The only explanation ever advanced for the freak was that the ball twisted itself through the hole.

There is a small hole, about two inches high and perhaps three long, under the Pittsburgh grand stand just back of first base that has won the Pirates three games in the last six years. Each time an overthrow of first resulted in the ball rolling straight and true through the hole.

The most historic accident in baseball is that which happened to Cliff Carroll in St. Louis—the one that resulted in Von der Ahe ordering all the pockets cut off the Browns' uniforms.

Cliff was in centerfield, with a runner on first, when the batter cracked a safe hit to center. Cliff came forward rapidly, intending to hold the runners at first and second. The ball took a bad bound and struck Cliff in the breast, and in grabbing for it he shoved it into the pocket of the shirt.

In vain he tugged at the ball—it would not come out; so he started to run forward. The runners, grasping the situation, tore around the bases with Cliff in pursuit, but before he got the ball out of his pocket both runners had scored. St. Louis was beaten and Von der Ahe was wild.

FAVORITES ALL TOPPLED OVER

Six favorites went down to defeat at Emeryville yesterday and there was considerable objection to the way in which some of these beatings were accomplished. The condition of the track left much to the judgment of the jockey, and the lack of discrimination displayed by some of the riders provoked considerable angry comment.

The most unsatisfactory race was the fifth, won by Judge. St. Francis, the favorite, was by long odds the best horse at the weights, but a blunder at the start spoiled the chances of the three-year-old. The starter claiming that St. Francis was knocked out of the race at the start by Lucian bolting in front of him. Some people who lost money on the favorite contend that the horse was held at the post by one of the assistants.

ETHEL LOST.
Meads, who was 6 to 1 at one time, beat Ethel Barrymore, the favorite, in the first race.

Our Anna and Lord Rosening were the choices in the second race, at four and one-half furlongs. In the third race, turned up in Los Craig, a 20-to-1 change, while Clements secured the place.

May Holladay had plenty of early speed in the fourth race, at one mile and a half, but Dusty Miller woke up and landed the coin. The track suited Dusty Miller, but his improvement was sudden after his effort on Saturday.

Judge secured first money in the fifth race, but it would have been a different story if the contenders had not met with interference.

Two Bills, the well-backed favorite, met with indifferent luck at the start of the third race, but faded away after six furlongs had been negotiated. Cardinal Sarto took the lead on the far turn, but had to be held rigid at the finish to stall off The Lady Roberts, the favorite.

Harbor ruled favorite over Nine Spot in the fourth race, at one mile and a half, but Dusty Miller woke up and landed the coin. The track suited Dusty Miller, but his improvement was sudden after his effort on Saturday.

CLAREMONTERS LEAD AT GOLF

The first round of the match play in the Pacific Coast championship tournament developed a number of surprises yesterday on the links of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club. The eight players who survived the round were: F. C. Newton of the Claremont Country Club, F. Kales of the Claremont Country Club, A. H. Higgins of the Claremont Country Club, A. B. Swift of the Santa Barbara Country Club, S. L. Abbott of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club, J. R. Clark, H. C. Golder and H. D. Adams of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club.

The first tournament of the season of the California Women Golfers' Association, which was scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed a week. The course of the Claremont Country Club was in no condition for the tournament, and the postponement was therefore deemed advisable. The entries for the tournament will now remain open until next Monday evening, when they close, with Mrs. R. Gilman Brown, secretary of the association.

Several Oakland boxers were refused reinstatement by the registration committee of the Pacific Amateur Association, which met last night at the Olympic Club and heard the appeals of the amateur boxers who are under suspension and who were members of the outlaw fight clubs.

Among the San Francisco lads, Abe Label applied for a reinstatement, but was refused.

REFUSE AMATEUR CARDS TO OAKLAND RINGSTERS

Chris Hampton, who has been boxing in Oakland, made a strong plea for a card, but the evidence was too strong against him and he failed to get the pasteboard.

Joe Larkin, who has been fighting before the Reliance Club in Oakland, was passed up. Edward A. Carter, who has been boxing before the West Oakland Club, satisfied the committee that he did not know that he was breaking the rules in taking part in the contests across the bay.

Al Kahn, who has been boxing under the name of Al Emick, was refused a card.

TOURNAMENT OF IVORIES TONIGHT

A handicap billiard tournament to begin at the Oakland Billiard Parlors, on Broadway, tonight.

A bunch of the best men with the ivories in the county has been gathered together, and the promoters have exercised great care in eliminating the weak ones from the contest.

The tourney is to be a fourteen-inch balk line. There are two scratch men, whose goal is 150 points, while one man plays for 125, and the others for 100.

Those entered as follows: Frank Harris and George U. Tyler, scratch men, at 150 points. J. U. Cross, 125. Cushing, 100. George Pezet, 100. J. C. Duncan, 100. Bert Jones, 100. W. Slater, 100.

Harris (150) vs. Cushing (100) opens tonight at 8 p. m.

The other scheduled games are: 28th—Duncan (100) vs. Pezet (100). 29th—Tyler (150) vs. Jones (100). 30th—Cross (125) vs. Slater (100).

The first prize will be a handsome silver trophy cup, given by the Oakland Billiard Parlor. The Brunswick-Balke Company gives a prize cue valued at $12.00. A. Jonas donates a fine hat, and there will be a fourth prize as yet undecided.

Games played nightly except Saturday and Sunday.

PHOENIX TEAM PLAYS U. C. TODAY

The University of California baseball team was scheduled to play the Phoenix team of St. Mary's College on the college campus at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The recently postponed game with Stanford is to be played at the same place next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The reason for scheduling it for the morning instead of in the afternoon is that the Berkeley Stanford field day is set for the afternoon, and the players desire to participate, while all, of course, desire to attend. The Phoenix are slated to go to Napa to meet the team there next Sunday, April 1. The boys say they cannot go, will not be "handed a package" while they are absent.

BRIDE IS POISONED

Partakes of Mushrooms and the Result Is Fatal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—In a cozy little home on the corner of Greenview and Dupont streets, Carmelito Treno, a girl-wife of only seventeen years and the bride of a twelve-month, died yesterday morning, and her young husband, Giuseppe Treno, has narrowly escaped death as a result of a feast of mushrooms gathered during a merry day spent in the country.

Last Thursday Giuseppe Treno had a day off and to celebrate it took pretty black-eyed Carmelito to Fairfax, where she said she would gather wild flowers to decorate the home. Among the blossoms she found big soft mushrooms, and the instincts of the ambitious young housewife, with a mind charged with the mysteries of Italian cooking, responded at once, and the lunch party was aided with the fungi of two kinds, red and white.

When they returned to the little flat Carmelito arranged the wild flowers and Giuseppe built the fire. Then together they washed the mushrooms and Carmelito proceeded to cook them according to a particularly appetizing Italian recipe. As a precaution against a possible mistake in the nature of the mushrooms, a dollar was dropped into the safe, and it had not been turned back when the dish was ready to be served, the young couple felt safe in enjoying their evening meal.

BOTH TAKEN ILL.
About midnight both were taken desperately ill and before morning were almost unconscious. Giuseppe, Dr. Onesti and Gunn were summoned and for three days worked over their patients. Yesterday morning the young wife, with less strength to battle with the poison, succumbed to the attack, and to the husband's anxious inquiries as to her welfare answer is made that she has been removed to a hospital. Every effort has been employed to save her life, but in his weakened condition the shock of the knowledge that his dark-eyed bride has gone from him forever, it is feared, would end the struggle.

Mrs. Treno was born at Sestri, Italy, and was the daughter of Giuseppe Treno, 1906 Taylor street. Her body lies at the Jachet undertaking parlors on Broadway, between Dupont and Stockton streets. Today it will be buried from the Italian church of St. Peter and Paul, where a year ago on Easter Sunday she stood, white-robed, before the altar, and, with flowers in her hands and happiness in her heart, was made a bride.

NO RELIABLE TEST.
There is no reliable test for detecting poison mushrooms, because the poisonous varieties are so numerous and so poisonous by action of the mineral deposits in the soil where they grow, and those which are non-poisonous may be made so by decayed vegetable matter or copper in the soil. The silvery color, too, in common use among the Italians, is fallacious, for mushrooms are not invariably oxidized by the presence of silver during the process of cooking.

The only antidote in cases of mushroom poisoning is atropine, the active principle of belladonna leaves. It is not a chemical antidote, but a physiological one, as it does not neutralize the poison or mingle with it, but counteracts its deadly effect upon the heart and respiratory organs. Mushroom poisoning has the effect of depressing the heart's action or that of the respiratory organs, and atropine is a stimulant for all these organs.

CITY CHEMIST'S VIEWS.
City Chemist A. C. Botte said: "The so-called silver 'test' is only a superstition, and therefore has no scientific value. Excessive eating and drinking, there is practically no true antidote for mushroom poisoning. The best thing to do is to administer a dose of mustard in lukewarm water as soon as possible, in order to rid the stomach of the poison before it gets into the system. Being an organic poison, it acts much as other alkaloids do.

"To bar mushrooms as an article of food would be as radical a measure as to forego the eating of fish for fear of ptomaine poisoning. Now and then a mushroom is gathered among non-poisonous mushrooms. Now and then someone is poisoned by eating fish. No rule can be laid down other than caution. People who gather mushrooms should positively know the difference between them and toadstools."

SHIELDS GOES TO OUTLAW LEAGUE

SEATTLE, March 27.—Charlie Shields, the big southpaw pitcher, has jumped the Seattle team to become an outlaw bold in Pennsylvania. Charlie kept insisting all along that he would report at Santa Barbara, but the offers of big money from the outlaws proved too tempting for him, and yesterday Russ Hall learned that Charlie had quit him cold.

Shields had every right to be one of the best pitchers in this league, and he would have been, too, had he had any ambition. But Charlie is too lazy to think of doing any more work than is absolutely necessary, and that trait spoils his usefulness to a ball team.

To take Shields place on the pitching staff, Russ wires that he has signed Loucks, the spit-ball artist. Dugdale brought Loucks here in the spring of 1903, but before the season was far advanced he traded him to Tacoma for Maupin, the lad with the whirlwind wind-up and not much else.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR THE REV. SHAW

One of the recent comers to the city, who is rapidly becoming an influential spirit in the various walks of religious and social life of the city is the Rev. William Carson Shaw, the new pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church. While but a few months' resident of Carbonade Mr. Shaw already has a large number of personal friends and acquaintances, who have been attracted to him by his broad, rounded, active and social personality. While always a churchman in the truest sense of the word he enters into his duties and privileges of a citizen with all the vigor of his robust, manly spirit and his influence is felt in an uplifting manner beyond the confines of his own spiritual charge. His active and progressive spirit has manifested itself in his religious work by a thorough organization of the church and his efforts are pleasing to his parishioners is evident by the cordial and hearty co-operation given by these organizations and the parishioners in general.—Scanton Republican.

NEW FEATURES AT NOVELTY THEATER

The performance this week at the Novelty Theater is, without a doubt, a great success, as was proven by the way the theater goes turned out to enjoy themselves and wandered into the Novelty Theater. The first act they witnessed was The Great Leon, whose marvelous work on the silver rings and diamond revolving bar was highly applauded. The Millards are highly pleasing and Mr. Millard, in his Rube character, has no equal. The Leonards, in their stately posing, present an act like of which has not been seen in this city before and is without a doubt a beautiful set of posing. The Gladstone children do a very neat singing and acrobatic act. Edward De Moss, the Novelty's favorite singing comedian, is playing a return engagement and was given a warm reception, and his singing was enjoyed by all present, as could readily be seen by the repeated encores he received. Tony Ryder's Monkey Circus is the last on the bill and Mr. Ryder is so commended on the way he has trained these little animals, and this act appeals to the young as well as the old. This fine bill of features with the two acts of pictures being shown this week, make up the highly enjoyable performance at the Novelty.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives, or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

who carried with him a load of junk that would have done credit to a "rag, bottles and suds" man was taken in by Officer J. Teel Farrar last night and booked at the police station as James McCarthy. Never in the history of the police department has such an extraordinary collection of stuff been found on the person of a vagrant as that which this knight of the road had.

He used no regular "pack" but had in the pockets of his clothing a quantity of material of all sorts, which when taken from him filled two large suitcases and a trunk. He wore three coats, and carried with him exactly light hats.

His collection included books, medicine bottles filled with "dope," human excrement, a tin of tobacco, pens, pencils, account books, old handkerchiefs, bits of metal, pipes, leather, tin whistles, miscellaneous papers, and other articles that one might find on a human being. He was kept at the station all night and was sent to the county jail today as a vagrant, by Justice Edgar's order.

all briefly and said that 90 per cent of the property-owners on Telegraph avenue want to straighten out that street.
"We do not ask you to give it to us.
We are willing to pay for it, however, if given the opportunity."

Dr. J. M. Shannon said that he was a property-owner in the vicinity of the proposed improvement and that he was in favor of the improvement.
Councilman Elliot—Dr. Shannon, do you know how long his walking stick has been in the ground? There is a street in Berkeley they have been trying to open for the past eight years and one old widow woman has kept them back all these years.

A. KENDALL.
A. Kendall—Well, we are more than one and we will not be back all these years.
Councilman Elliot—Well, I just want to point out that this is the most intricate legal proposition known in such matters. There are twenty-one successive legal steps to be taken. The opening of a street against the protest of the property-owners is a most difficult matter.

Councilman Elliot—I will state that we tried to open Cypress street ten years ago and we have not yet been able to do it.

Councilman Elliot—I would like to ask Assistant City Attorney O'Brien how many streets he has walked back and forth during Mr. McElroy's term of office?
Mr. O'Brien—Three.
Councilman Elliot—Where are they now?
O'Brien—Still in litigation.
Councilman Elliot—Will you say now, gentlemen, that the matter would probably be tied up in the courts for ten years.
Councilman Thurston—There is one thing my mind has been made up to and that is, that this improvement should be made if it is feasible. There is no reason why bank that wishes to put up such a building as is proposed to be put up but can go out and get signers to its petition. But does that make it right?
I think like to see the building go up myself. But should such a thoroughfare be irregular? I think not. I believe this street will have to be widened out sooner or later and I think now is the time to do it.

Samuel Bell McKee—I would like to say that Los Angeles and Portland have no streets like ours. I have two letters, one from each city, and neither of them has any streets ninety feet wide. I have the greatest city in the United States, Broadway in New York; that street is eighty feet wide. In the city of London the Strand is the widest of the busiest streets in that greatest city. That street narrowed down to forty feet and in order to widen it the Council of London bought acres of land and then only widened the street to ninety-five feet. It was only considered necessary to widen that great thoroughfare to ninety-five feet, ninety-five feet should be wide enough for Broadway.

THE COUNCIL.
Snook—There is one suggestion. If you cut off the 32 feet it will mean that there will be a distance of 145 feet from corner to corner, instead of 125 feet at the present time. The place will be as wide as you will have to have two places of refuge for those crossing the street. Councilman Thurston is right.
This is one of the questions which the Council is asked to sit in a judicial capacity. There are of course two ways of looking at it. The street could be widened by cutting off four feet on the sidewalk on the eastern side of the street where Mr. Tiesch has his business.
It is well known that a wide street does business either to one side or the other. There is no fifty cent or dollar side to Washington street. One side is as good for business as the other.
Because it is narrow enough to allow persons to cross without much effort. It has been referred to by the Council as a narrow street.
Attempts to open the street when Governor
Pardee was a Councilman of this city.
That attempt was made to purchase the Pardee. His father was alive then and owned the property. The pool sellers brought the matter up to punish Governor Pardee through the Council. It has also been said that if this proposed improvement was in Los Angeles that the street would be widened. In my opinion,
if this building was about to be erected in Los Angeles, the man who opposed it would be run out of town.

JAMES A. JOHNSON.
Attorney James A. Johnson (representing the protestants)—I cannot very well add to what has been said by Mr. McKee and Mr. Snook. They have covered the entire field in a practical manner. I do know something about the leases, for I drew them myself. One of the reasons that Mrs. Johnson consented to the lease for ten years was that the fine building should be erected. She realized that it meant much for Oakland and consented to the lease on that condition and consenting to the lease on that condition Pardee. His father was alive then and owned the property. The pool sellers
brought the matter up to punish Governor Pardee through the Council. It has also been said that if this proposed improvement was in Los Angeles that the street would be widened. In my opinion,
if this building was about to be erected
in Los Angeles, the man who opposed it would be run out of town.

ATTORNEY LEACH.
Attorney Abe Leach—I represent those who have no interest in the matter at all. I am not a protestant. I am interested in bank stock or anyone who has property holdings on Telegraph. My clients are those who have the interest in the city as it ought to be. There are more cases pending at this narrow point than in all other parts of the city. It means a fine line of twenty inches in diameter and have a steady volume of water flowing through it all is well but if the water is stopped it means trouble. If you decrease that width twenty per cent there is bound to be trouble. There will be a great deal of trouble. If you will refer to the Commission of the Whole to be taken up at the next meeting. I wish more time to consider the question. I do not yet know how to vote.

Councilman Burns—I think that the building will be a good thing for the city. I have made up my mind and am ready to vote tonight. I will vote against postponing the matter.
Councilman Davidson—I am in favor
of erecting the building and will vote not to widen the street. I am willing however to give more time to those Councilmen who wish to make up their minds.

The matter was then put to a vote,
with the result that the motion to postpone two weeks was carried.
Burns was the only one voting no.

SUMMER PRICES AT LAKESIDE RINK

The Lakeside Rink was crowded with skaters Sunday night, it being the last performance of Prof. Charles T. Furber and his little daughter Lillian in the greatest skating prize ever seen on the coast. The skaters of this rink would like to have the Professor and his little daughter stay longer; their skating is wonderful.

The management will give the patrons of this popular place of amusement more first-class attractions in the near future.
The summer skating prices went into effect last night, reducing the general admission to ten cents and allowing the ladies and school children free admission mornings and afternoons, except Sundays and holidays.

A large class of ladies can be seen each morning learning to glide on the little rollers—the most pleasant of pastimes. It is a good place to drive away the blues.

This rink has, without a doubt, the best ventilated building in this city, and will be an excellent place to skate in on a warm day. It is a good place to spend an afternoon or evening. Must be Professor Henderson's Military Band.

BROADWAY WIDENING IS DISCUSSED BY THE CITY COUNCIL

Attorneys and Interested Citizens Are Heard by the City Fathers—Action on Matter Is Finally Postponed for Two Weeks.

After two hours and a half of discussion before the Committee of the Whole of the City Council last night the question of widening Broadway to 110 feet between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, was postponed for two weeks until the next meeting of the committee to permit several Councilmen to make up their minds how to vote.

During the discussion, which was participated in by the petitioners, protestants and the Councilmen, considerable feeling was developed and Chairman Meese of the committee had to rag for order and also request those in the lobby not to applaud points favoring one side or the other.

DISCUSSION OPENED.
The discussion was opened by the reading of the report of the Board of Works on the subject of widening the street. The Board of Works itself is divided on the advisability of widening the street, and its recommendation was simply that the City Council should handle the question itself without any help from the board.

The recommendation of the board was "that the widening would be a public benefit, but there was a question as to whether the benefits would be commensurate with the cost."

The indefinite recommendation so aroused the ire of Councilman Bacus that he was in favor of re-referring the entire matter back to the Board of Works for a definite recommendation.
His colleagues, however, preferred to have the question of widening the street threshed out before the Council.
The indefinite recommendation caused Councilman Elliot to ask the clerk to inform the Council just what the board meant.

"They declare that the opening would be a public benefit," replied Clerk Thompson.

CHARLES E. SNOOK.
Attorney Charles E. Snook (representing the protestants)—The question is one of importance and we would like to have the City Council settle it once and for all. The interests of the First National Bank are such that an early decision is desirable. Before this Council takes any action I think that it would be well to hear from Mr. Burke who has plans of the bank with him and can tell you under what conditions the seven-story building is to be erected at the corner of Fourteenth street and Broadway.

BANK'S SIDE.
L. P. Burke, cashier of the First National Bank—We have leased the ground at the corner of Fourteenth and Broadway for a period of thirty years, and we are very anxious to proceed with the building, which certainly will be an adornment to this city. The only thing that is keeping us back is the prospect of the street being widened and thus destroying the property so that we would be unable to build a suitable structure. If twenty feet is taken off from the ground that we have leased it will mean that we will have to abandon the erection of the building. In view of the fact that we have spent about $10,000 already in the building of which to build it seems that this Council should assert us. We have bought up leases and done other expensive preliminary work, such as having the plans drawn when everything is considered it seems to me that this Council should decide that the opening of the street was not a public necessity.

Attorney Snook—Why cannot you go farther north in event that twenty feet were taken off?

Mr. Burke—There are long leases just north of our property line and we could not obtain any additional ground from Councilman Bacus—How long is the building adjoining you leased for, Mr.
Burke?

Mr. Burke—About a year.

Councilman Elliot—How large a building do you propose to erect there?

Mr. Burke—A seven story structure.
Councilman Elliot—Will you use all of the building?

Mr. Burke—All but a small space about 16 by 20 feet, which we would rent to any suitable tenant.

THE COST.

Councilman Elliot—If you do not mind, would you tell the Council about how much the building will cost?

Mr. Burke—If the building is seven stories in height it will cost about $210-000. If it is erected to a height of five stories it would cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Councilman Snook—How much, Mr. Burke, has the bank already expended since the first of the year?

Mr. Burke—About $10,000 aside from paying the regular rent.

Attorney Snook—Have you put up a bond to erect a building?

Mr. Burke—Yes sir, we have given a bond of $100,000.

Attorney Snook—You had to purchase the lease of Mr. Bowman at the corner, did you not?

Mr. Burke—Yes, we had to buy that lease.

Councilman Bacus—If the Council would cut off twenty feet, on whom would the expense fall most heavily?

Mr. Burke—The expense would fall on the Council.

Councilman Bacus—Did you say that if the street is widened you would not erect a building?

Mr. Burke—Yes, sir. The widening of the street would destroy the property to such an extent that we would be unable to use it at all.

Councilman Burns—You have already leased the ground, have you not?

Mr. Burke—Yes, we have leased it for a period of thirty years.

Councilman Burns—You are now paying rent, are you not?

Mr. Burke—Yes, since the first of the year.

J. J. McDONALD.
Attorney J. J. McDonald, representing the petitioners—I would like to say a few words. I represent a number of parties I represent are concerned they do not care how far the widening extends. They are agreeable to the entire street being straightened. I think that I can safely say that I represent not only my clients, but fully ninety per cent of the people of Oakland.

C. E. Snook—It is a dream.

McDonald—It is not as much of a dream as some of the thoughts that rattle around in the think tank of Mr. Snook.
John Tiesch of the Central Bank barber shop took the floor and stated that he was for the improvement of the city of Oakland and he said:

"If this question would arise in the city of Los Angeles it would not result in all this dicker and bickering. The government would look into it and as soon as it could they would do it. What they would put it through."

"Now, I am not a rich man but I am willing to put my hand down into my pocket and help to straighten out a de-formity in this city. If this building is put up on the elevation now determined upon it will be to the lasting regret of this city."

Councilman Burns—How wide do you think a street ought to be?

Tiesch—Well, our Governor said ninety feet was wide enough for any street.
Well, Broadway is not ninety feet wide at Fourteenth street. The street there is fifty-six feet from curb to curb. The sidewalk on the east side is fifteen feet six inches, and on the west side twelve feet four inches; that is eighty-four feet.
Attorney Snook—Is that not from the bank steps?

Tiesch—Yes, from the property line the sidewalk is twenty feet, but even at that the street is shy of ninety feet.

CHARLES WAGNER.
Charles S. Wagner addressed the Coun-entire matter be re-referred to the Board of Public Works.

Councilman Aitken—I second that motion.
This motion was put by Chairman
Meese and was lost by a vote of seven to three.

Those voting against the motion were:
Burns, Elliot, Meese, McDonald, Fendleton, Thurston and Davidson.
Those who voted for the motion were:
Bacus, Aitken and Hahn.
President Fitzgerald was absent when the matter was taken up.
Councilman Fenclenton—I think that this Council should act on the matter right away. I believe that the improvement is a good thing and am ready to vote on the matter tonight.
Councilman Bacus—I then move that the matter be re-referred to the Commission of the Whole to be taken up at the next meeting. I wish more time to consider the question. I do not yet know
how to vote.

Councilman Burns—I think that the building will be a good thing for the city. I have made up my mind and am ready to vote tonight. I will vote against postponing the matter.
Councilman Davidson—I am in favor
of erecting the building and will vote
not to widen the street. I am willing however to give more time to those Councilmen who wish to make up their minds.

The matter was then put to a vote,
with the result that the motion to postpone two weeks was carried.
Burns was the only one voting no.

LIVELY FARCE AT LIBERTY THEATER

The Bishop Company romped through Richard Tully's farce, "A Strenuous Life," just as if they enjoyed the play as hugely as the audience. A more decided farce couldn't have been selected to be put on between serious dramas. The transition from the sobs and pocket handkerchief play to the trivial and funny is complete. And the audience enjoyed it hugely. It was a toss up at various times to which was making the most noise, the audience or the people on the stage. Last night the house was crowded, and by the advance sale already at the box office it will surely be a banner week.
To begin with the players appreciate the farcical end of this play thoroughly. They know that the slam-bang acting is what makes the hit, as long as you seem dead in earnest in doing it.
George Friend and Orval Humphreys started it. They struck the audience in continual laughter. Frank Bacon gave a very clever performance as Dan Dar-quest and Reginald Travers, each give a definite touch to well designed and cleverly portrayed characters. Harry West, John D. O'Hara and John Ra-vold all did good work and by clever acting helped to make the comedy a success. Ida May Bradley was good as Dulcie Harrington. "A Strenuous Life" is bound to amuse and to attract large audiences throughout the city. Next Monday night, after E.
Perkins will commence a special engagement in the military comedy "Who Goes There?"

ings have extended over three sessions of Congress.
